Jet Bombers Pound Reds' Supply Sites

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 jet bombers pounded North Vietnamese supply depots and command centers in the A Shau Valley west of Hue today with hundreds of tons of high explosives in an effort to blunt a new enemy buildup threatening the former imperial capital.

Thirty-five eight - engined Stratofortresses flew five separate missions against the valley 50 miles west of Hue, raining nearly 2 million pounds of bombs on the North Vietnamese positions.

Mount Three Raids

The bombers, flying at more than 20,000 feet and unseen from the ground, mounted three raids Wednesday afternoon on truck parks, gun positions, bunkers and storage depots in the valley. They returned this morning for two more missions.

During the same period, the B52s flew two missions against North Vietnamese ammunition depots and troop concentrations around Khe Sanh. For the third consecutive day, Marines at Khe Sanh reported a relatively light shelling, fewer than 100 rounds. Marine casualties were reported as light.

The B52s have been averaging about five missions a day in support of Khe Sanh.

Russian Trucks Spotted

Russian trucks have been spotted regularly in recent weeks moving from the A Shau Valley toward Hue with ammunition and other war materials.

Lt. Gen. Robert E. Cushman, commander of the northern 1st Corps, said North Vietnamese engineers have rebuilt much of old provincial Route 547 running 40 miles over mountains from the A Shau Valley to Hue.

The valley has served as a massive enemy supply depot on the Ho Chi Minh network of trails from Laos since North Vietnamese troops overran the U.S. Special Forces camp there two years ago.

In early March, the top U.S. commanders in Vietnam predicted the North Vietnamese would strike again at Hue because the Communist command feels it is the invasion gateway along the coastal plains to South Vietnam.

1,989 Viet Cong Killed

Elsewhere the U.S. command announced that 1,989 Viet Cong have been killed in the biggest allied offensive of the war around Saigon.

Latest reports said an American task force of tanks and infantrymen killed 99 Viet Cong troops 28 miles northwest of Saigon in two days of fighting in Operation Quyet Thang—Resolved to Win.

The combined U.S. and South Vietnamese offensive by 50,000 troops was launched 18 days ago in five provinces around Saigon. Its aim is to clear the area of enemy forces and to regain the offensive from the Viet Cong.

American and South Vietnamese forces have lost 178 dead in the operation and are killing 12 enemy soldiers for every allied soldier lost, if the U.S. Command count is correct. This is twice the average American kill ratio of six-to-one.

Evasive About Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams has departed Washington for Vietnam, leaving behind virtually no clues as to future U.S. troop plans—or to his own military future.

"I look for more fighting," was the clipped response of the deputy U.S. commander in Vietnam when asked to forecast the future course of the war.

And he dismissed as tersely the speculation that he's in line to succeed Gen. William C. Westmoreland when the U.S. commander steps down to become Army chief of staff by July 2.

White House Speaks

The White House speaks for itself," said the 53-year-old Army general in referring newsmen to a White House refusal to comment on Westmoreland's successor.

His comments came in a planeside interview shortly before he flew out of Andrews Air Force Base for Vietnam. Like his two days of secrecy-cloaked talks with President Johnson and other U.S. officials in Washington, details of his return trip weren't disclosed.

The White House has said these talks did not involve Abrams' future and maintains no decision is imminent on war zone manpower changes.

In an interview with The Associated Press, the man in charge of the pacification program in South Vietnam conceded the Viet Cong handed the program a major setback with their Tet offensive.

Predicts Faster Recovery

But Ambassador Robert W. Komer, predicted the South Vietnamese will recoup their losses faster than the enemy does its.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee meanwhile introduced a resolution urging President Johnson to create a Cabinet-level post to "deal exclusively with the question of ending the war in Vietnam."

The proposal by the Arkansas Democrat and fervent war-policy critic would not be binding on Johnson if the Senate adopts it.

A committee spokesman said the resolution had been routinely sent to the State Department for comment.

Gagarin Dies In Training Crash

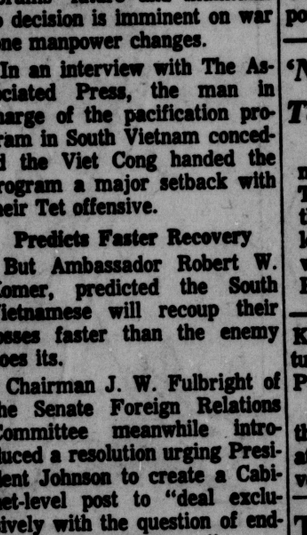

Russian Who Flew First Manned Space Trip Killed

MOSCOW (AP) —Handsome Soviet cosmonaut Yuri A. Gagarin, who flew the world's first manned space mission in April 1961, died in a training-flight crash Wednesday.

The crash also killed Col. Vladimir S. Seryogin, commander of an air unit and a member of the space backup team. The ashes of both Gagarin and Seryogin will be placed in the most honorable spot in the Soviet Union, the Kremlin Wall facing Red Square.

The news that the 34-year-old Soviet hero was dead plainly saddened many Russians. One radio announcer repeated the official report several times with deep emotion. The announcements were interspersed

In Report To Ohio, West Virginia

Chester Bridge Replacement Urged By Engineering Firm

REPLACEMENT OF THE CHESTER BRIDGE, built in 1896, has been recommended by an engineering firm as a result of cable deterioration found during an in-depth inspection ordered by Ohio following the Dec. 15 collapse of the Point Pleasant Bridge.

Emphasis Placed On Faulty Cables

The recommendation of an engineering firm for the replacement of the Chester Bridge "as soon as possible" was reported today to Gov. James A. Rhodes by Ohio Highway Director P. E. Masheter.

In making the report, Masheter said he concurs in the recommendation by Modjeski & Masters, consulting engineers of Harrisburg, Pa., whose representatives recently inspected the span.

The firm was retained by Ohio to inspect the Chester Bridge, Pomeroy Bridge and Ft. Steuben Bridge for $40,000 after the disastrous collapse of the Point Pleasant Bridge Dec. 15.

Masheter said the engineers reported the Pomeroy and Ft. Steuben spans — also owned and maintained by Ohio — are structurally capable of carrying legal loads.

West Virginia Must Initiate Action

But the engineers said the Chester Bridge, posted with a 2½-ton load limit in January, should be replaced.

The highway director pointed out, however, Ohio cannot legally replace the span as any such action must be initiated by West Virginia. He said copies of the report are being forwarded to West Virginia road officials.

Ohio law precludes the state from building any bridge across the Ohio River, since bordering states own the river to the low water mark.

The three bridges inspected by the firm were originally acquired by the Highway Department from the Ohio Bridge Commission which had operated them as toll facilities. All were erected with private capital.

The firm's report recommends continuation of the 5,000-pound load limit, completion of suggested repairs, frequent inspections and replacement of the span "with a bridge of modern design as soon as possible."

The bridge was erected in 1896 as a streetcar span.

A 15-ton load limit was placed on the bridge when the firm began its inspection late in December. The 2½-ton limit was ordered in effect Jan. 24 after the firm reported corrosion in the cable anchorages.

Many Relatives Of Crewmen Claim They Don't Ring True

NEW YORK (AP) — Wearing what his wife calls his "go to hell grin," Fireman Michael O'Bannon posed next to a ping pong table somewhere in North Korea with seven fellow captured crewmen of the U.S. Pueblo.

The picture and a letter from the Navy man arrived recently at the O'Bannon home in Beaverton, Ore.,—one of a number of such letters coming to crewmen's families and high officials in the United States.

Thinks Letters Phony

Mrs. O'Bannon thinks the letter is phony. And many other relatives of the Americans who were captured two months ago say that the letters they have received simply do not ring true.

Mrs. O'Bannon said the grin on her husband's face was the one he "always wore when I wanted him to do something he didn't want to do." She said she is pretty sure that the man is her husband and that he's wearing his "go to hell grin."

She said the letter was written in an unnatural style. He refers to her as "My dearest Kay," which she says he never would have written and to his parents as "the family" instead of the usual "Mom and Pop."

Seen As Propaganda

The letters to relatives, to President Johnson, and to senators are seen by the State Department as part of a propaganda effort by the North Korean Communists. Many of the letters call on the United States to apologize to North Korea for the activities of the electronic surveillance ship.

Mrs. Gerald Nolte of Washington, Iowa, said the letter from her son, Clifford, reads "like he had been forced to copy it from a blackboard."

The handwriting on the letter she got is definitely that of her son, says Mrs. Everett Arnold of Santa Rosa, Calif. But she said the letter from Richard reads as though he would start a sentence—and someone else would finish it.

Mrs. Lyle C. Shingleton of Atoka, Okla., mother of Seaman John Shingleton, does not think her son wrote the two identical letters she received.

One Clue Way It Starts

One of her clues is the way the letters start: "Dear Mom and Dad.." "He always starts out, 'Dear Folks'", Mrs. Shingleton said.

Like Mrs. O'Bannon, Mrs. Shingleton received a picture. Both photos were turned over to the Navy.

Some of the families contacted by the Associated Press said they were satisfied with government efforts to free their sons. Most were simply confused and anguished. Only two said they thought the United States should apologize.

'No Letter Yet,' Toronto Family Says

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lamantia of 903 Daniel Ave., Toronto, said this morning they have not yet received a letter from their son Tony, who was a member of the Pueblo crew.

Tractor-Trailer Damaged, Poles Smashed

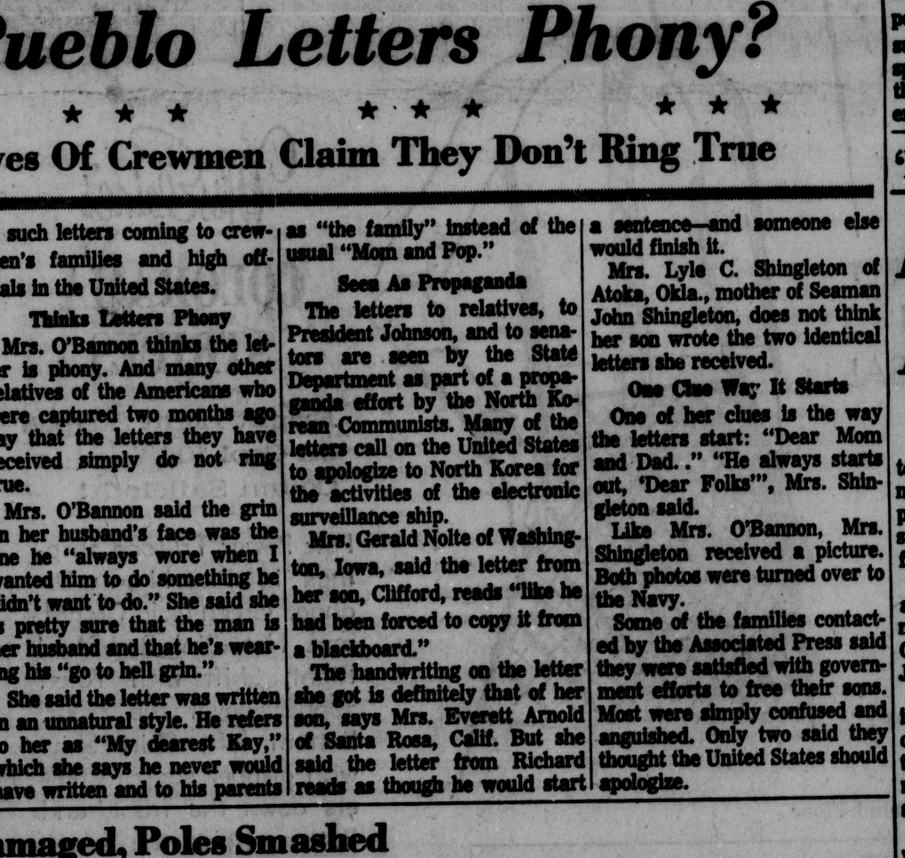

Rail Tracks Ripped Out By Slide

Nearly 400 feet of Penn Central tracks were ripped out, four utility poles smashed and a tractor-trailer damaged when 1,000 to 1,500 tons of earth and rock came crashing down from the hillside about a mile north of Toronto Wednesday evening.

An additional 200 feet of track were damaged as the result of the slides, which started about 250 feet above where crews are constructing a segment of the four-lane Route 7.

Damage to the tractor-trailer, operated by Henry Miguel, 53, of Weirton, was estimated at

'Push' On In Wisconsin

Kennedy Enters Indiana Primary

By The Associated Press

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy enters his fourth presidential primary today—Indiana's—and politicking is heavy in Wisconsin where that primary is only five days away.

The New York Democrat also already is entered in the primaries in Nebraska May 14, Oregon May 28 and California June 2.

Kennedy reached the decision in Utah Wednesday to enter Indiana's May 7 primary. He flies to Indianapolis tonight to file, making stops for campaign speeches along the way.

The New York senator's entry will make Indiana the first official battleground between Kennedy and rival anti-Vietnam war policy candidate Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Stand-In For Johnson

A stand-in for President Johnson, Indiana Gov. Roger D. Branigin, also is on the ballot.

Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon went on the Indiana ballot Wednesday. He'll be the only Republican on the ballot if no others meet the midnight deadline tonight.

In Wisconsin, meanwhile, Nixon, McCarthy, Republican Harold Stassen and a host of administration officials backing Johnson are making final campaign drives for the vote next Tuesday.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan also is on the ballot. He says he's not a presidential candidate but his Wisconsin backers are pressing for a Reagan vote.

Nixon Statement Waited

Nixon announced he is preparing a major statement for broadcast Sunday on the Vietnam war and "the problem of diplomacy at the highest levels involving the Soviet Union."

The former vice president told newsmen: "Over a period of time, I've probably been the administration's most consistent critic. This speech will be along those lines."

McCarthy resumes his Wisconsin campaign after a fund-raising trip to Chicago Wednesday.

Car Linked To Jailbreak Turns Up In Newell Area

A 1950 Chevrolet believed used by prisoners who broke out of the Columbiana County Jail at Lisbon March 18 was recovered Wednesday night near Newell.

Four of the six escapees were returned to custody last week.

Two of them pleaded not guilty to "escape from jail" charges Wednesday in Southwest Court at Lisbon and were bound over to the grand jury which will convene April 9.

Judge J. L. MacDonald set bond of $1,000 each for Lester L. Donahue, 22, of 637 River Rd., East Liverpool, and Vernoon Kubankin, 19, of Salem RD 1, who were represented by court-appointed counsel. The prisoners waived preliminary hearings and were returned to the jail in lieu of bond.

The search continues for Charles Mercer Jr., 18, of 120 Ravine St., East Liverpool, and Mark F. Heverly, 22, of 524 New York Ave., Sebring.

In custody and awaiting arraignment on the jailbreaking charge are Alan W. Jarvis, 18, of 1603 Chester Ave., Wellsville, and Dennis D. Hunter, 18, of 211 W. 8th St., Salem.

A city girl injured when she was struck with a baseball bat Wednesday was treated at City Hospital along with nine others.

with slow funeral music from Tchaikovsky and Scriabin.

No details were given about the crash.

Gagarin's death was the second tragedy known to have hit the Soviet space program within a year. Last April 24 Col. Vladimir M. Komarov was killed when his Soyuz spacecraft crashed to earth.

Six U.S. astronauts have died in the line of duty.

Gagarin opened the book on manned space flight on April 12, 1961, when he shot skyward in his Vostok space capsule and orbited the earth once. The trip lasted 108 minutes and Gagarin landed apart from the capsule by parachuting to earth near the village of Smelovki.

On May 5 the same year the United States entered the space race with a suborbital flight by Alan B. Shepard Jr.

Gagarin's spectacular space flight propelled him from obscurity to the foremost rank of Russian celebrities. After his 1961 one-orbit trip Gagarin stood atop Lenin's Tomb in Red Square with then-Premier Nikita Khrushchev and began to mingle with the world's great—a vibrant youth alongside older leaders from many countries.

It was all far removed from the collective farm on the plains of European Russia 100 miles west of Moscow where Yuri Gagarin was born March 9, 1934. His father, Alexei, was a carpenter. His mother, Anna Timofeyvna, was the picture of a Russian farm woman, stout, broad-faced, good-humored.

After World War II Yuri won admission to an industrial junior college at Saratov on the Volga River and learned to fly while attending school. He then went to the Soviet air force academy at Orenburg, and graduated with top honors in 1957—the year of the first Sputnik.

The young pilot married a quiet, pretty medical technicia, Valentina, who is now 33 years old. She survives along with their two daughters, Yelena, 9, and Galya, 7.

Gagarin's fame as a pioneer of the space age changed his life in many ways, and yet he remained a hard-working cosmonaut. He was the control officer on subsequent manned space flights and played important roles in the space program.

He became a member of the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, and a delegate to important meetings of the Soviet Communist party, which he had joined in 1960.

Miguel said he was northbound about 8:30 when rocks came crashing into the side of the cab and roadway and the rig ran over several others before it halted on the left side of the road.

Officers said he received a bruised leg and a bump on the head from being tossed around in the cab.

Four Ohio Power utility poles were toppled by rocks which rolled beyond the railroad basin.

The roadway was cleared of debris about 10 p.m., the patrol reported, but traffic is still being controlled in the area while crews work to clear the tracks and replace the utility poles.

san last week charged all six with escape from jail.

Lisbon police received word from the sheriff's office at 2:35 a.m. today that a black 1950 Chevrolet sedan stolen at Lisbon the night of March 18 had been recovered "back of Newell."

Missing from the vehicle owned by Raphael Darcy of 289 W. Chestnut St., Lisbon, were the two front wheels and tires, radiator, battery, spare wheel and tire and the license plates — L 254 P. The vehicle was stolen from Darcy's driveway about two blocks from the jail. Police advised Darcy this morning that the car had been towed to the Zorzi garage in Chester.

Although Nevada is one of the nation's least populated states, its rate of population growth is greatest of any state, according to the Census Bureau. Between 1960 and 1965, the population increased 54.2 per cent, to 440,000 persons. Arizona's rate is second, 23.5 per cent from 1960 to 1965.

Repair Held Impossible

The firm has indicated the cables cannot be repaired. It had been considered that auxiliary cables might be installed to strengthen the supports, but this has apparently been ruled out.

The deteriorated condition of the walkway was also noted in the report, and a recommendation made that the walks not be overloaded at any time.

Correction of minor weld failures, a continuous maintenance problem, was recommended as part of the minor repairs which will be made when weather permits, highway department authorities said.

The report said the Ft. Steuben and Pomeroy bridges are structurally safe, needing only minor repairs.

But it was recommended only vehicles carrying legal loads be permitted to cross the two bridges, and the department's permit section was directed not to issue any permits for haulers to overload.

Would Replace Floor

The firm recommended the floor of the Ft. Steuben Bridge be replaced. However, the condition of the floor does not make the span susceptible to structural failure, the report said.

The firm said, "Condition of the structure is good with the exception of the bridge deck. No serious loss of section in the superstructure was found."

But in view of the fact it would take a minimum of six months to replace the deck of the Ft. Steuben bridge, requiring the span to be closed to traffic, the department said it plans to keep the bridge "under close scrutiny" and to make repairs to the deck as needed until a new bridge can be built in this area.

Prison Terms Are Given 2

LISBON — Mary Jane Phillips, 39, of Damascus and James T. Hubbard, 25, of 1780 Arthur Ave., Wellsville, were sentenced to prison this morning in Common Pleas Court.

Both had pleaded guilty to grand jury indictments earlier and asked for probation. Mrs. Phillips was charged with four counts of forgery and Hubbard with receiving and concealing property stolen from the Shamrock Hardware in Wellsville.

Judge Buzzard sentenced Mrs. Phillips to the Women's Reformatory at Marysville for 1 to 20 years on each count, but said the sentences may be served together. He also allowed her credit for time in the County Jail since she pleaded guilty Feb. 5.

Hubbard was sentenced to 1 to 7 years in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield.

Serving Of Warrant Yields Extra Prisoner

When East Liverpool police sought to serve a warrant on an Elkrun Township woman here early today, they wound up with two prisoners instead of one.

Mrs. Hilda Jean Smith of Elkton was taken into custody on E. 6th St. on a warrant alleging she trespassed March 21 on the property of Lois Hamilton. Officers also booked her on an intoxication charge. At the same time, they arrested Linda R. Carter, also of Elkton and Mrs. Smith's sister, on an intoxication charge.

The trespassing charge was dismissed today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff because the complaining witness did not appear, although she had been notified by police. Each woman was given a suspended $10 fine on the intoxication charges.

Shafer Ties Wage Tax To Increased Costs

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer said today that he believed the only tax vehicle available to meet increased cost of government, including higher teacher salaries, was an income tax.

"I'm not plowing the ground for anything," Shafer said at his weekly news conference.

"However, if the cost of government is going to increase because of increased salaries or services, then these costs are going to have to be paid.

"I would say that the principal tax vehicle would have to be an income tax."

5-City Study Shows Electric Heat Costs Almost Triple Price of GAS...

A recent study comparing operating costs of natural gas with electricity in Ohio shows that electricity costs almost three times as much as natural gas for home heating, Harold R. Sneddon, East Liverpool, manager for The Ohio Valley Gas Company said today.

The study was prepared by the Vern E. Alden Co. of Chicago, a widely respected independent consulting firm which specializes in studying various applications of gas and electricity for home use.

The Ohio Valley Gas Company requested this study, Sneddon said, "so that the people in our distribution area will know that gas is much more economical — in addition to all the other advantages it has over other fuels."

Five Ohio cities—all having natural gas and electric rates comparable to those in East Liverpool — were selected by the Alden firm in preparing the analysis, Sneddon said.

The findings for an average size home constructed with heavy insulation, thermopane windows and storm door show the following:

	Natural Gas	Elec.	Annual Savings Using Natural Gas
Home Heating	$90.43	$256.34	$165.91
Water Heating	51.44	126.52	75.08
Cooking	9.36	24.12	14.76
Clothes Drying	3.69*	14.13	10.44
*Power Ignition

"Just as significant" Sneddon pointed out, "in the typical gas-heated home, occupants experience no wide temperature variations, no air stagnation or cold spots and children play in the basement without feeling chilly."

5-City Study Shows Electric Heat Costs Almost Triple Price of GAS...

A recent study comparing operating costs of natural gas with electricity in Ohio shows that electricity costs almost three times as much as natural gas for home heating, Harold R. Sneddon, East Liverpool, manager for The Ohio Valley Gas Company said today.

The study was prepared by the Vern E. Alden Co. of Chicago, a widely respected independent consulting firm which specializes in studying various applications of gas and electricity for home use.

The Ohio Valley Gas Company requested this study, Sneddon said, "so that the people in our distribution area will know that gas is much more economical — in addition to all the other advantages it has over other fuels."

Five Ohio cities—all having natural gas and electric rates comparable to those in East Liverpool — were selected by the Alden firm in preparing the analysis, Sneddon said.

The findings for an average size home constructed with heavy insulation, thermopane windows and storm door show the following:

	Natural Gas	Elec.	Annual Savings Using Natural Gas
Home Heating	$90.43	$256.34	$165.91
Water Heating	51.44	126.52	75.08
Cooking	9.36	24.12	14.76
Clothes Drying	3.69*	14.13	10.44
*Power Ignition

"Just as significant" Sneddon pointed out, "in the typical gas-heated home, occupants experience no wide temperature variations, no air stagnation or cold spots and children play in the basement without feeling chilly."

As Soon As Possible

The chaps with the slide rules and the insight on stresses and strains have confirmed what a lot of sidewalk superintendents and amateur engineers have been thinking for some time — we need a new, safe way to get over the Ohio River.

Rumors have been rampant since Dec. 15—the day the Silver Bridge crumpled into the river, killing more than 40 — that the Chester Bridge is weak and unsafe, on the verge of collapse.

The experts were called in to determine just how structurally sound the bridge is—and they were not long in calling for a quick reduction of the load limit as a result of corrosion discovered in the anchorages for the supporting cables.

The experts now say major repairs are not feasible, and the bridge should be replaced—"as soon as possible."

Comes the sticky question—who's going to do it?

Ohio's highway officials have already disclaimed any legal responsibility for initiating the construction project in West Virginia waters.

West Virginia, burdened with bridge problems all along the river and within its own shores, cannot be expected to start next month the planning for a new span. Clearly, the federal government will have to come up with assistance on such a vital interstate need.

A modern trans-river highway link is important for northern West Virginia, southeastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania — to meet existing transportation demands and to help stimulate the economic development so crucial for the future of the tri-state district.

The existing bridge, long a traffic bottleneck, has become a serious hazard for the thousands of motorists now using it. It has created a crippling barrier to heavy transportation.

For safety's sake, for the purpose of real progress in this whole region, we hope the officials of the two states and the federal government will join in following the terse recommendation of the inspecting engineers to build a new bridge "as soon as possible."

Pilots Take 'Frosting From Cake'

The public has become accustomed to inconveniences of one type or another occasioned by strikes.

Now a segment of the public that flies will have to do without a little of the frosting on the cake.

Trans World Airlines pilots are cutting off their interesting and informaitve in-flight travelogues in an effort to force TWA management back to the bargaining table.

TWA and its pilots have reached an impasse in their talks over pay and benefits. Their contract expired March 1.

The pilots are cutting out their cheery spiels as part of their WOE campaign — "Withdrawal of Enthusiasm."

They also plan to report to work an hour before take-off instead of the customary two hours. This is expected to cause departure delays — further indicating the withdrawal of enthusiasm.

The actions are designed to put presusre on TWA management to return to bargaining, the theory being that the flying public will prefer a cake with frosting and use another airline. And management, not wanting to lose customers, will quickly resume bargaining.

A union spokesman said WOE was used effectively in 1964 and brought a resumption of talks in eight days.

Some will consider the pilots' action juvenile; some will think it shrewd. But one thing everyone will concede is that, as usual, the public will be the loser.

A View From Outside

Many Newell residents have labeled as "insulting" a recent story in a Cleveland newspaper about Waterford Park which refers to the community in some harsh terms.

The writer dismisses Newell as a "muddy little town with a turf supply store" bulging with house trailers.

The Newell Junior Women's Club, among others, resents the description—and rightly so—for the author is obviously loose with his choice of words and lacks real understanding of his subject ("Newell . . . an old river town hanging by its fingertips to the mountainside").

The town is actually among the newer communities in the whole tri - state area (1907), has been associated with potteries rather than the Ohio River, and no one but a near-sighted prairie dog would suggest the gentle slope of the valley's hills is a "mountainside."

But the outsider's view should not be rejected as totally wrong, for his reactions must be founded on observations which have some credibility, and what he sees is what many others may see.

Residents of Newell, East Liverpool, Midland —every community — should welcome comments from visitors, for their eyes are more objective, their opinions less tolerant of error, their attitudes closer to that which is instead of that which was or should be.

These criticisms, constructively intended or not, can well serve as the inspiration for plans and projects to effect changes the town and future visitors will welcome.

New Jaycees

The newly - formed Midland Area Jaycees have already begun to fill the anticipated role of an energetic collection of young men willing to tackle just about any project of benefit to Midland, Industry or Ohioville.

The current members and those who will join to become the "charter group" face a lot of hard work in meeting their own obligations and those which will be thrust upon them. But they are also in line for a heck of a lot of fun, plus the satisfaction of doing something important for others which would not have been done had they not joined together under the Jaycee Creed.

Educating The Educable

Ohio's superintendent of public instruction, Martin Essex, was bubbling over with ideas in a speech to the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges this week.

We liked best his idea that if educators controlled education only 10 per cent of the nation's high-school-age students would go to high school for advanced academic training.

The others, Supt. Essex declares, would be handled the way they are in Europe. They would be educated in nonacademic courses.

We have no idea about a 10 per cent estimate of academically educable people, but the percentage is a quibble. It's Supt. Essex's surmise about what would happen if educators were in charge of high schools that gets attention. High schools would educate the educable — no others need apply.

Is he not saying that educators are not in control of high schools now?

And if he is saying that, is he not saying people in charge of high schools are not educators?

That would be putting it unfairly, because what Mr. Essex means is that educators must do what has been laid down as public policy by their employers, the taxpayers who pay the freight for public education. These people are not educators.

Hence, the fixation about public education being a privilege that no one must be barred from sharing and the parallel fixation that everybody must be regarded as equally educable, though educators know better.

The only place where this knoledge can be brought to bear is in private schools, with the privilege of rejecting applicants whose records show they are not material for academic training. No one would expect a football coach to say, "Come one, come all," yet Ohio's superintendent of public instruction came close to saying in Chicago that teachers, too, could turnout championship material if they had a chance.

A General Mess

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The decision to bring Gen. William C. Westmoreland back to the United States caught Washington completely by surprise. Even Joseph Wallstop, the syndicated Hawk and widely-read pundit, had been kept in the dark on the President's plans.

Art Buchwald

This didn't go down too well with Wallstop when I saw him a few days later at the Army-Navy Club.

"No one consulted me," Wallstop complained. "I had to read about Westmoreland's recall in the newspapers."

"It's typical of the President," I said, trying to placate my friend. "The people involved are the last to know."

"Even Westmoreland knew before I did," Wallstop said.

"But not by much," I pointed out.

"Well, I think it's sheer idiocy," Wallstop said angrily. "Just when the tide has turned and we have the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese on the run, and the Hue offensive proved once and for all that we were fighting paper tigers, Johnson has given in to political expediency. Doesn't the President know that I need Westmoreland in Vietnam?"

"BUT THERE will be other generals, Joe, and I'm sure they'll work with you."

"That's not the point," Wallstop said. "Westmoreland understands my strategy. He's a 'search-and-destroy' man as I am; he understands my attrition policies. This is no time for me to break in a new commanding general."

"But Joe, there has been some criticism of those policies since the Tet offensive. There are even some military experts who say that they are not working."

"Well, those experts will soon have jam on their faces. Of course, I can't be responsible for every minor setback in Vietnam, particularly when the President won't give me the troops I asked for."

"That's right," I said. "You did call up the reserves last month, didn't you?"

"I certainly did, not just in one column, but in three. Yet the President overruled me. I can't get it through to the administration that if I'm going to be proven right in my column, I need at least 500,000 more men."

"Joe, do you think if we had a million American men in Vietnam we could win the war?"

"Maybe not at first, but we certainly could get the pacification program off the ground."

"And then win the hearts and minds of the Vietnamese people," I said.

"Exactly. But every time I make a suggestion and the administration rejects it, they dance in the streets of Hanoi."

"THAT'S NOT easy to do with all the bombing going on," I agreed. "Tell me, Joe, why can't anyone else in Washington see the Vietnam problem as clearly as you do?"

"Because they don't have access to captured enemy documents," Joe said. He opened his briefcase and handed me a sheaf of papers. "Read them and then tell me if we aren't winning the war."

"They're all printed in Vietnamese, Joe."

"Well, you can guess what they say, can't you?" he asked, putting them back in his briefcase.

"Tell me, Joe. Now that Westmoreland is coming back to the United States, do you think you'll be consulted about his replacement?"

"If I'm not, I can't guarantee the war will continue as well as it's going now."

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

On New Year's Day, President Johnson declared 1968 to be a year of staying at home. At that time he proposed the formation of a committee to persuade foreigners to travel to the United States.

Later he also announced his plan to restrict travel abroad. Since that time there have been several travel restriction plans presented to Congress. The reasons for these restrictions are rather evident.

The major reason is the twofold benefit to the American economy. First of all, it stimulates our economy by putting more money into circulation here in the United States. For example, tourists purchase articles from merchants in the area they are visiting. This puts more money into circulation by prospering the merchant.

Secondly it benefits the American economy by keeping the American dollar out of foreign hands. By traveling abroad, Americans are in effect depleting the already low gold reserves. This is due to the fact that foreign countries often redeem our paper currency for gold. In 1966 alone, 1,547,725 Americans traveled abroad. It can easily be seen that the total money they spent would be a substantial sum.

Another reason for travel restrictions is the present lack of respect that other nations have for Americans. Each traveler that leaves the United States assumes the risk of either personal humiliation or physical harm.

These two reasons clearly show that there must be some restrictions as to where and when people can travel; this is the responsibility of the government.

Purely Personal Observations

Sometime when circumstances are favorable, I would like to reschedule my ingestion of food to include five meals a day, as is the custom among Scandinavians. The idea appeals to me more than the U.S. custom of wolfing down three refills a day, then calling it quits.

Whenever I zip through a log with a freshly sharpened chain saw, I think of doing the same job with a cross-cut saw and am deeply grateful for the good new days in contrast to the bad old days.

Styles in names for girl babies change. I nominate Althea, Camilla, Dulce, Evadne, Hester, Isolde, Justina, Kit, Lettice, Marilla, Mignon, Nabby, Persis, Roxanna, Serena, Trix and Zoe for some names that have been worn lusterless through repetition.

I don't know if Sen. Kennedy of New York has thought about this seriously, but people who refer to him as "Bobby" are not his friends. They say it in the way they would refer to someone as "Sonny."

Ugliest thing on the country scene is a rusty barbed wire fence — a grisly memorial to cruelty — until a sleet storm coats each wire and barb with shimmering ice, transforming the fences into miles of diamond necklaces.

The blackbirds building a nest in the top of one of our evergreens work at their project in bad weather. Birds never sit down in a warm place to wait for the weather to improve, because they know the nest must be ready when it's time to lay eggs—and there must be a moral in this.

War Review

"Intensive review" is the key phrase here concerning the future of the Vietnam War.

It doesn't mean withdrawal or surrender. It doesn't mean escalation into a larger war either. It is simply a penetrating study as to how the United States can secure its objectives in the most effective manner and with the least loss of life.

Obviously a change of strategy is contemplated. The transfer of Gen. William Westmoreland recently announced, however, is not because in any respect he has failed.

It is due primarily to the need for a new style of warfare which will require a different type of commander as well as a change in the distribution of America's manpower in South Vietnam.

Basically, the last year has proved that the traditional type of war — bombing the enemy constantly and organizing a massive military apparatus — does not secure the safety of the small villages where the Viet Cong revolutionaries have taken over large parts of the countryside.

THE SOUTH Vietnamese government is perplexed because it is unfamiliar with military techniques and is not experienced in how to deal with the damaging effects of Communist penetration.

As military men discuss the future, they agree that a way must be devised to fight a "revolutionary war." This includes a struggle against infiltration by the Communists and their use of stooges and agents to terrorize the people and undermine South Vietnamese authority in local areas.

Also, because of the lack of civilian discipline, the Saigon government has failed to deal effectively with corruption and fraud in the handling of military supplies.

What the United States is up against in Vietnam is better understood now than it was two years ago. Forthcoming plans undoubtedly will call for an improvement in the tactics hitharto used.

What may be looked for is not necessarily an appreciable increase in manpower. In the long run, it could even be reduced. But over the next two or three years the United States will try to better conditions inside South Vietnam and will not be building up concentrations of troops.

More pressure will be exerted, of course, on the South Vietnamese government itself to increase its military strength in a substantial way.

Even if the American forces did win victories in large-scale offensives, this would not solve the problem. For if American troops were then withdrawn and the situation left to a weak and inefficient government in South Vietnam, a Communist take-over would be rapid and all the effort of these last two years would have been in vain.

The "intensive review" is naturally conducted in secret. Conferences are going on in Saigon and Washington. The hope is that before long a strategy will be developed which will permit the United States not only to reduce its forces in South Vietnam but to maintain its supply lines as well as to keep enough officers and men on hand to train a native army.

In a nutshell, the United States now is likely to put much of its effort into a strengthening of the South Vietnamese government so that its military forces will be able to resist the North Vietnamese and eventually drive them out of the many villages in which they have planted groups of Communist-trained agents.

The United States government is reappraising the situation not only because orthodox military methods have not as yet succeeded but because the problem of what is called "revolutionary war" is at last being examined in true perspective.

THE UNDERLYING American purpose today is to strengthen South Vietnam just as South Korea was bolstered and supported so that it could largely maintain its own defenses against North Korea.

Undoubtedly a constructive policy, once explained to the American people, it would clear up many of the current misunderstandings. The important fact to be borne in mind, however, is that the United States will not abandon South Vietnam. Preparations will be made to pull out the bulk of American troops next year or the year after but only when the South Vietnamese, supported with the aid of American funds and supplies and with the help of Southeast Asian allies, are able to defend themselves against aggression.

I don't know if Sen. Kennedy of New York has thought about this seriously, but people who refer to him as "Bobby" are not his friends. They say it in the way they would refer to someone as "Sonny."

Ugliest thing on the country scene is a rusty barbed wire fence — a grisly memorial to cruelty — until a sleet storm coats each wire and barb with shimmering ice, transforming the fences into miles of diamond necklaces.

The blackbirds building a nest in the top of one of our evergreens work at their project in bad weather. Birds never sit down in a warm place to wait for the weather to improve, because they know the nest must be ready when it's time to lay eggs—and there must be a moral in this.

War Review

"Intensive review" is the key phrase here concerning the future of the Vietnam War.

It doesn't mean withdrawal or surrender. It doesn't mean escalation into a larger war either. It is simply a penetrating study as to how the United States can secure its objectives in the most effective manner and with the least loss of life.

Obviously a change of strategy is contemplated. The transfer of Gen. William Westmoreland recently announced, however, is not because in any respect he has failed.

It is due primarily to the need for a new style of warfare which will require a different type of commander as well as a change in the distribution of America's manpower in South Vietnam.

Basically, the last year has proved that the traditional type of war — bombing the enemy constantly and organizing a massive military apparatus — does not secure the safety of the small villages where the Viet Cong revolutionaries have taken over large parts of the countryside.

THE SOUTH Vietnamese government is perplexed because it is unfamiliar with military techniques and is not experienced in how to deal with the damaging effects of Communist penetration.

As military men discuss the future, they agree that a way must be devised to fight a "revolutionary war." This includes a struggle against infiltration by the Communists and their use of stooges and agents to terrorize the people and undermine South Vietnamese authority in local areas.

Also, because of the lack of civilian discipline, the Saigon government has failed to deal effectively with corruption and fraud in the handling of military supplies.

What the United States is up against in Vietnam is better understood now than it was two years ago. Forthcoming plans undoubtedly will call for an improvement in the tactics hitharto used.

What may be looked for is not necessarily an appreciable increase in manpower. In the long run, it could even be reduced. But over the next two or three years the United States will try to better conditions inside South Vietnam and will not be building up concentrations of troops.

More pressure will be exerted, of course, on the South Vietnamese government itself to increase its military strength in a substantial way.

Even if the American forces did win victories in large-scale offensives, this would not solve the problem. For if American troops were then withdrawn and the situation left to a weak and inefficient government in South Vietnam, a Communist take-over would be rapid and all the effort of these last two years would have been in vain.

The "intensive review" is naturally conducted in secret. Conferences are going on in Saigon and Washington. The hope is that before long a strategy will be developed which will permit the United States not only to reduce its forces in South Vietnam but to maintain its supply lines as well as to keep enough officers and men on hand to train a native army.

In a nutshell, the United States now is likely to put much of its effort into a strengthening of the South Vietnamese government so that its military forces will be able to resist the North Vietnamese and eventually drive them out of the many villages in which they have planted groups of Communist-trained agents.

The United States government is reappraising the situation not only because orthodox military methods have not as yet succeeded but because the problem of what is called "revolutionary war" is at last being examined in true perspective.

THE UNDERLYING American purpose today is to strengthen South Vietnam just as South Korea was bolstered and supported so that it could largely maintain its own defenses against North Korea.

Undoubtedly a constructive policy, once explained to the American people, it would clear up many of the current misunderstandings. The important fact to be borne in mind, however, is that the United States will not abandon South Vietnam. Preparations will be made to pull out the bulk of American troops next year or the year after but only when the South Vietnamese, supported with the aid of American funds and supplies and with the help of Southeast Asian allies, are able to defend themselves against aggression.

Living Costs Rose By .3% In February

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose three - tenths of one per cent in February, rising for the fifth straight month at an annual rate of 4 per cent, the Labor Department said today.

At the same time wholesale prices took the biggest monthly jump in two years, seven-tenths of one per cent, including a sharp 1.5 per cent rise in food costs that will probably be reflected later in grocery prices.

"It does appear it will continue to go up," Commissioner Arnold Chase of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said of the rise in the cost of living.

The February increase brought the consumer price index to 119.0, meaning it cost $11.90 last month to purchase typical family goods and services worth $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

Despite the price increases, some 45 million American workers gained 55 cents a week in purchasing power as average wages rose to a new high of $104.33. The gain resulted from a longer average work week and a one-cent rise in hourly earnings.

Among the larger February price rises were medical care, up six - tenths of one per cent, housekeeping services, up five-tenths, and increases in mortgage interest, home maintenance and auto repairs.

Grocery prices rose four-tenths of one per cent and clothing six - tenths, the bureau said.

The big rise in wholesale prices pushed that index up to 108.0, and preliminary figures for March indicate a further rise of three - tenths of one per cent.

Among the larger wholesale price hikes were those on copper, due to the continuing eight-month - old strike in that industry, and iron and steel products, stemming from stockpiling as a hedge against a possible steelworkers strike this summer.

Prices for copper and other nonferrous metals affected by the strike rose 5.5 per cent in February.

About 112,000 workers, largely in the aerospace industry, will get pay increases ranging from one to three cents per hour because of the rise in consumer prices. They have cost of living clauses in their contracts.

From Slag Plant

Dust Problem Reviewed By Midland Councilmen

The problem of excessive dust from a community plant was aired by Midland Council Wednesday night. Council members said they are especially concerned now that spring weather has arrived and homeowners will be opening windows.

The dust getting into the homes and onto the furniture could pose a serious problem.

Councilman Raymond Presutti said the "extremely heavy dust clouds" were coming from the Brown Brothers plant at the west end of the borough. The firm crushes slag from the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Co. It is not a part of Crucible.

Presutti said Council should ask the company to take steps to abate the dust. He pointed out residents along Springlane will be raising the windows of their homes soon to enjoy the spring weather. This will permit the dust to enter the homes.

Council had discussed the problem once before and Brown Brothers had been asked to wet the slag more during the crushing operations. The company agreed to comply.

Presutti, vice president, presided in the absence of William Vignovich Sr., president. All other councilmen were present.

In other business, Council received a report on a sewer cleaning project and awarded a contract for the job.

Donald Bartram representing Michael Baker Jr., Inc., borough engineer, reported a contract for cleaning and inspecting a 72-inch storm sewer had been awarded the low bidder, Pittsburgh Pipe Co., for $6,607.

Other bidders were Robinson Pipe Co., $6,712, and Mayhew and Sons, $8,212. Inspection includes a continuous photographic survey of the sewer which runs under property of the Crucible Steel Co.

Bartram said the project will be financed by liquid fuel funds from the state.

Councilman Joseph D'Alesio suggested the Midland Municipal Authority ask Peter Kukurin of East McKeesport, contractor laying new water lines on Virginia Ave. and other streets, to fill holes and return streets to the usual order.

Matt Brozic of the street department said his crews have been filling some of the deeper holes so traffic will not become stalled.

A letter was read from Duquesne Light Co. The utility said it could not be responsible for uniform tree trimming on Midland streets, since it is permitted to trim only around transformers and distribution lines. The company advised this should be the responsibility of the borough or of individual homeowners.

A number of homeowners had complained that the company's trimming trees on only one side of the street left an unsightly appearance. Council had written the company, requesting uniform tree trimming on future jobs.

The next meeting will be April 10.

From Slag Plant

Dust Problem Reviewed By Midland Councilmen

The problem of excessive dust from a community plant was aired by Midland Council Wednesday night. Council members said they are especially concerned now that spring weather has arrived and homeowners will be opening windows.

The dust getting into the homes and onto the furniture could pose a serious problem.

Councilman Raymond Presutti said the "extremely heavy dust clouds" were coming from the Brown Brothers plant at the west end of the borough. The firm crushes slag from the Midland Division of the Crucible Steel Co. It is not a part of Crucible.

Presutti said Council should ask the company to take steps to abate the dust. He pointed out residents along Springlane will be raising the windows of their homes soon to enjoy the spring weather. This will permit the dust to enter the homes.

Council had discussed the problem once before and Brown Brothers had been asked to wet the slag more during the crushing operations. The company agreed to comply.

Presutti, vice president, presided in the absence of William Vujovich Sr., president. All other councilmen were present.

In other business, Council received a report on a sewer cleaning project and awarded a contract for the job.

Donald Bartram representing Michael Baker Jr., Inc., borough engineer, reported a contract for cleaning and inspecting a 72-inch storm sewer had been awarded the low bidder, Pittsburgh Pipe Co., for $6,607.

Other bidders were Robinson Pipe Co., $6,712, and Mayhew and Sons, $8,212. Inspection includes a continuous photographic survey of the sewer which runs under property of the Crucible Steel Co.

Bartram said the project will be financed by liquid fuel funds from the state.

Pamphlet Offers Tips On Mailings To Servicemen

An illustrated pamphlet, "Mail For Servicemen," out lining the expanded program for airlifting letters, packages and other military mail overseas at low postal rates is now available through post office window clerks, Postmaster Samuel W. Brown announced today.

Brown said "as a result of new legislation and action by President Johnson we are now airlifting more than 75 per cent of all mail going to the military men and women stationed abroad. We hope this guide will help more American families be familiar with these services and use them."

The eight-page pamphlet illustrates three services for airlifting parcels at rates the average family can afford, the service now available for newspapers and news magazines to most overseas bases, the special rates for books and similar educational materials and how to mail sound - recorded personal messages. The guide also provides parcel wrapping instructions, information on the time it takes parcels to reach Vietnam and other overseas bases from major U.S. cities, and pointers on the correct way to address military mail.

A family sending a 10-pound package from East Liverpool to Vietnam, for example, pay only $3.40 on a package marked "PAL," while the air parcel rate for the same package is $8.00, Brown pointed out.

On parcels weighing less than 5 pounds, he said, it might be more advantageous for a family to use the older (SAM) Space Available Mail service, which provides surface transportation to the port of embarkation and airlift overseas. A four-pound SAM package to a European military post from East Liverpool costs only 75 cents. On packages weighing under two pounds air parcel post is often the patron's "best buy" for through airlift service, the pamphlet suggests.

Northern Ohio Farmers Set To Kill 1,000 Hogs

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—Farmers in Northern Ohio will start killing 1,000 hogs Saturday unless someone comes up with a plan to distribute the pork to poor people in Cuyahoga County, the National Farmers Organization said Wednesday.

An NFO spokesman, after a five-hour meeting, said unless a specific plan was suggested before noon Friday the hogs will be shot and buried.

Farmers across the country have been killing hogs in an attempt to raise the market price to $23 per hundred weight.

The spokesman said the farmers were willing to give the hogs away but attempts to find a slaughterer to distribute the meat, process and pack it, have failed.

Hearings Begin In Red Dog Case

WHEELING — Testimony was continuing today in U. S. District Court here in the first of the gambling trials resulting from a raid on the Red Dog near Chester.

Three federal agents were among witnesses testifying Wednesday, the opening day of the trial of Joseph E. Santoriello (alias Joe Sands), accused of traveling across state lines to promote gambling.

The govenment alleges that Santoriello traveled from Pittsburgh to Hancock County to work in the Red Dog gambling casino that was raided Nov. 4.

—:—

IN OPENING arguments, Justice Department attorney William Hyatt said the government contends that Santoriello used the alias Joe Sands when he allegedly worked as manager of the Red Dog in order to protect his "political job" with the state of Pennsylvania.

Outlining prosecution arguments for the jury of nine men and three women, Hyatt said the government will introduce evidence that Santoriello told an undercover agent for the Internal Revenue Service that he lived in Pittsburgh and worked in West Virginia.

To back the government charge that Santoriello broke a West Virginia law prohibiting "games of unequal chance," prosecution witnesses Kier Thomas Boyd and Robert S. Miller testified that gambling devices seized at the Red Dog favored the casino rather than the gambler.

Both men are with the Washington, D.C., laboratories of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Boyd a mathematician, specializes in computation of the weighted advantages of roulette, bookmaking and "common casino" games.

MILLER tests electric, mechanical and electro - mechanical gambling devices to determine whether gambling odds favor the house.

Internal Revenue agent Billy E. Whaley also was a prosecution witness. He traced the gambling equipment from the time of its seizure at the Red Dog Nov. 4 to the FBI lab in Washington Feb. 1 to establish a "chain of circumstances" identifying the equipment used as evidence.

During their testimony referring to eight slot machines, two roulette wheels, three crap tables, dice and cards, defense counsel Samuel J. Reich of Pittsburgh objected because the equipment was not exhibited in the courtroom.

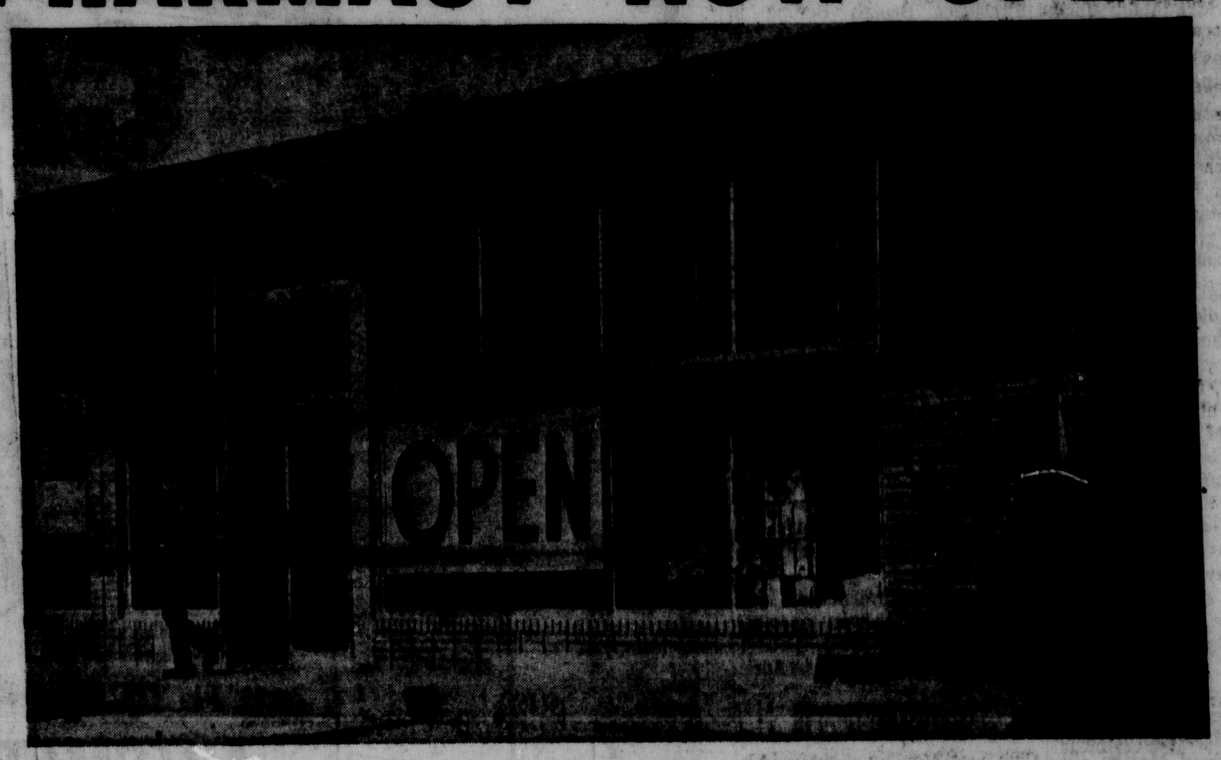

Overruling the objection, U.S. Judge Robert Maxwell said, "I don't see any point in inundating the courtroom with this equipment."

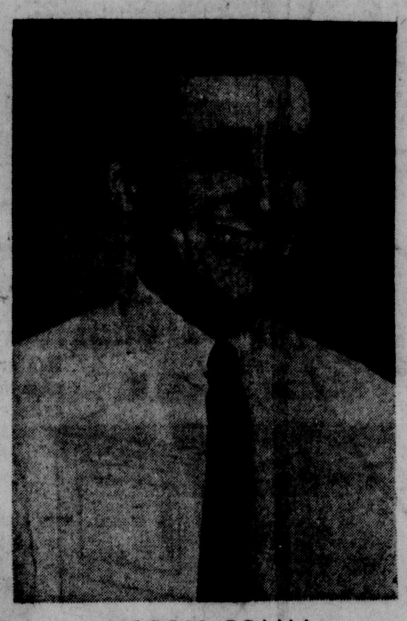

Representing the government with Hyatt is U.S. Atty. John Marshall III. Defense counsel includes Art Recht of Wheeling.

'Crusade,' Golf Tourney Discussed By Ministers

Plans were discussed for a citywide evangelistic crusade and a golf tournament when members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, met Wednesday morning at the YMCA.

William Smith and Ralph Campa, members of the Christian Business Men's Association, outlined plans for the crusade. The association agreed that the churches should engage in such a crusade on a voluntary basis.

The Rev. Dan Davis of the Chester First Christian Church presented plans for the golf event to be held May 20 at 10:30 a. m. for the ministers. The tournament will feature "medal" play, with handicap. A $2 fee for the purchase of trophies will be charged and a luncheon is planned.

Good Friday services at St. Stephen's Episcopal, Anderson Methodist and Oakland Free Methodist Churches were affirmed.

Robert Harris, director of the local Socal Security office, and his assistant, Bryan Detwiler, informed the ministers how the Social Security program relates specifically to them. They also explained recent changes in the program.

The Rev. E. H. Harris of the Second Baptist Church led devotions.

Driver Fined $93 On Stack Of 38 Tickets

A W. 6th St. motorist today paid the biggest penalty to date —$93.50—in the "Meter Maid" campaign to clean up a backlog of old parking tickets.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff assessed a fine of $86 and $7.50 costs on Vincent Candito of W. 6th St., who pleaded guilty to a charge he ignored a stack of 38 tickets. Candito failed to appear for a hearing on the charge Wednesday and a bench warrant was issued to compel his appearance today.

An affidavit listed 29 tickets which Candito allegedly ignored. But nine more were found in the files after the affidavit was signed, raising the total to 38.

Meanwhile, Clifford Moore of 410 Maplewood Ave. paid $41.50 — a $34 fine and $7.50 costs— on a charge he ignored 13 tickets. The affidavit was signed by "Meter Maid" Juanita Stoffel.

A hearing has been set for Monday for Hazel Myers of 805 W. 9th St., charged with failure to settle for 27 tickets. She also was named in an affidavit signed by Mrs. Stoffel.

The court decreed a fine of $10 and costs for Charles Weyand of Dodge St., cited Wednesday at 9:34 a. m. by Patrolman Orin C. Smith on a charge of driving the wrong way in an alley between Mulberry St. and 1st Ave.

Carol Ann Kasunich of 1424 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. She was cited Tuesday at 10:40 p. m. by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Howard W. Merriman of 401 Ray St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on W. 5th St. He was cited Wednesday at 10:26 p. m. by Patrolman James Woods.

'I'm Going To Raise Cattle,' $120,000 Winner Declares

IMPERIAL, Pa. (AP) — A man who said he never won anything and never figured he would, says he'll use his $120,000 winnings from the Irish Sweepstakes to purchase a farm and raise cattle.

"This was kind of a shock," said Jack Carr, 45, a maintenance man, in an obvious understatement.

"I haven't figured it out yet because I never had that much money in my life all at one time," he said when The Associated Press gave him first word he was a winner.

"They told me last week that they had a horse picked but I haven't got a confirming telegram yet that I'm a winner."

Carr, who's on two weeks vacation now, works at Western Pennsylvania Hospital in Pittsburgh as an air-conditioning maintenance man. He makes $112 a week and has four children—two in school, one married and a son in Vietnam.

A neighbor, James Carson, delivered the good news to Carr because Carr has an unlisted telephone number.

"I thought he was kidding, that it was another one of those practical jokes," Carr said.

Carr, who figures he'll have about $40,000 left after taxes, says he'll buy a 40-to-50-acre farm and raise white face herefords when the money comes through.

He said he "never figured on winning it. My mother started buying tickets when I was three years old and I've been getting them ever since. This is the first time I've ever won anything."

Natural Causes Seen In Death Of Woman

The body of Gladys Blankenship, about 45, from Canton, Ohio, was discovered Wednesday morning by neighbors.

'Crusade,' Golf Tourney Discussed By Ministers

Plans were discussed for a citywide evangelistic crusade and a golf tournament when members of the East Liverpool Ministerial Association, met Wednesday morning at the YMCA.

William Smith and Ralph Compa, members of the Christian Business Men's Association, outlined plans for the crusade. The association agreed that the churches should engage in such a crusade on a voluntary basis.

The Rev. Dan Davis of the Chester First Christian Church presented plans for the golf event to be held May 20 at 10:30 a. m. for the ministers. The tournament will feature "medal" play, with handicap. A $2 fee for the purchase of trophies will be charged and a luncheon is planned.

Good Friday services at St. Stephen's Episcopal, Anderson Methodist and Oakland Free Methodist Churches were affirmed.

Robert Harris, director of the local Socal Security office, and his assistant, Bryan Detwiler, informed the ministers how the Social Security program relates specifically to them. They also explained recent changes in the program.

The Rev. E. H. Harris of the Second Baptist Church led devotions.

Driver Fined $93 On Stack Of 38 Tickets

A W. 6th St. motorist today paid the biggest penalty to date —$93.50—in the "Meter Maid" campaign to clean up a backlog of old parking tickets.

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff assessed a fine of $86 and $7.50 costs on Vincent Candito of W. 6th St., who pleaded guilty to a charge he ignored a stack of 38 tickets. Candito failed to appear for a hearing on the charge Wednesday and a bench warrant was issued to compel his appearance today.

An affidavit listed 29 tickets which Candito allegedly ignored. But nine more were found in the files after the affidavit was signed, raising the total to 38.

Meanwhile, Clifford Moore of 410 Maplewood Ave. paid $41.50 — a $34 fine and $7.50 costs— on a charge he ignored 13 tickets. The affidavit was signed by "Meter Maid" Juanita Stoffel.

A hearing has been set for Monday for Hazel Myers of 805 W. 9th St., charged with failure to settle for 27 tickets. She also was named in an affidavit signed by Mrs. Stoffel.

The court decreed a fine of $10 and costs for Charles Weyand of Dodge St., cited Wednesday at 9:34 a. m. by Patrolman Orin C. Smith on a charge of driving the wrong way in an alley between Mulberry St. and 1st Ave.

Carol Ann Kasunich of 1424 Pennsylvania Ave. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. She was cited Tuesday at 10:40 p. m. by the Ohio Highway Patrol.

Howard W. Merriman of 401 Ray St. was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 45 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone on W. 5th St. He was cited Wednesday at 10:26 p. m. by Patrolman James Woods.

'I'm Going To Raise Cattle,' $120,000 Winner Declares

IMPERIAL, Pa. (AP) — A man who said he never won anything and never figured he would, says he'll use his $120,000 winnings from the Irish Sweepstakes to purchase a farm and raise cattle.

"This was kind of a shock," said Jack Carr, 45, a maintenance man, in an obvious understatement.

"I haven't figured it out yet because I never had that much money in my life all at one time," he said when The Associated Press gave him first word he was a winner.

"They told me last week that they had a horse picked but I haven't got a confirming telegram yet that I'm a winner."

Carr, who's on two weeks vacation now, works at Western Pennsylvania Hospital in Pittsburgh as an air-conditioning maintenance man. He makes $112 a week and has four children—two in school, one married and a son in Vietnam.

A neighbor, James Carson, delivered the good news to Carr because Carr has an unlisted telephone number.

"I thought he was kidding, that it was another one of those practical jokes," Carr said.

Carr, who figures he'll have about $40,000 left after taxes, says he'll buy a 40-to-50-acre farm and raise white face herefords when the money comes through.

He said he "never figured on winning it. My mother started buying tickets when I was three years old and I've been getting them ever since. This is the first time I've ever won anything."

The body of Gladys Blankenship, about 45, from Canton, Ohio, was discovered Wednesday morning by neighbors.

Flip Flops In Cuba

"I see now what National Airlines means by that slogan, 'Is This Any Way to Run and Airline?' Personally, I think showing the movies is a better idea," says comedian Flip Wilson, who was aboard the National plane hijacked and flown to Cuba a couple of weeks ago.

Hal Humphrey

"When I got back, somebody at Miami Airport asked me how long we were in Cuba, and I said, 'Man, I was in Cuba from the time that first guy came through the doorway waving that gun,' yes-sir!"

-:-

NOBODY played hero and tried to stop the three hijackers, although Flip does say he might have if the four Italians he was seated with in the lounge hadn't confused him with too many instructions.

"The one fellow says, 'Jump 'em.' Then the next one says, 'Don't panic,' and the other two yell, 'Keep cool,' so I didn't know what to do. After the guy with the gun at the stewardess' head forced his way into the pilot's cabin, I heard somebody ask, 'Where does he want to go?' I said, 'Wherever he wants to go, I want to go, too.' "

The plane was in Cuba several hours while the pilot negotiated with the airport for gasoline.

-:-

THE CUBANS wanted $900 for $300 worth of gas, and the pilot had to get an okay from his home office on that one, but I wasn't disturbed. I figured National wasn't going to let an $8 million plane go for a measly $700," says Flip.

When it was all over, and the plane was on its way back to Florida, Flip asked the stewardess what she was thinking because, as one of the hijackers held the gun at her head, she was looking right at Flip.

"It sounds crazy," the stewardess replied, "but I was thinking at that very moment what you'd say in your act about this whole thing."

-:-

FLIP INTENDS to work up a routine about his experience, but it will take time. He does all of his own writing and is too busy working at the moment to come up with it.

Flip has taped two appearances on the Rowan & Martin Laugh-In shows for April 1 and 8. He hosts ABC's "Operation Entertainment" show April 5 and on April 10 he subhosts for Joey Bishop, then hops to New York for his 27th guesting on Johnny Carson's "Tonight" show.

Most of Flip's fans think he's a new comic in the field, but he's been at it for 15 years in small clubs around the country ("wherever I could find work").

-:-

"I NEVER WORRIED about making it, though," he says. "I read Max Eastman's book, 'The Enjoyment of Laughter,' a long time ago and all of the greats he talked about — W. C. Fields, Keaton and the rest — all said it took 15 years to make a comic.

"Also, I'm a Sagittarius and they're notoriously slow starters. Sammy Davis Jr., Maurice Chevalier and Winston Churchill were born under the same sign. In the next five years I'm going to get it now. If Dick Gregory hadn't broken through in comedy for the Negro, I would have."

Flip has offers from networks for weekly series, but is taking his time considering them. He feels he could handle a series now, yet wants to make sure he'll come through as an individual who is liked personally by the audience.

-:-

HE PREFERS working in night clubs to TV, "but you have to be a pro and adapt to whatever the conditions are," says Flip.

Someday he intends to write a book on comedy, which he has compiled many notes for already.

"Things are funny only when done in fun — funny is the attitude, the feeling. They asked me in Miami after that flight if I was afraid. I said, 'No, I'm not afraid,' and the way I said it was funny because I felt afraid. That's the definition of a joke—a remark or reaction opposing the reason."

Like most comics, Flip takes his comedy quite seriously, and if you've heard his album, "Cowboys & Colored People," you know he's a funny man.

HE PREFERS working in night clubs to TV, "but you have to be a pro and adapt to whatever the conditions are," says Flip.

Someday he intends to write a book on comedy, which he has compiled many notes for already.

"Things are funny only when done in fun — funny is the attitude, the feeling. They asked me in Miami after that flight if I was afraid. I said, 'No, I'm not afraid,' and the way I said it was funny because I felt afraid. That's the definition of a joke—a remark or reaction opposing the reason."

Like most comics, Flip takes his comedy quite seriously, and if you've heard his album, "Cowboys & Colored People," you know he's a funny man.

Signup Ends; 7,731 Qualify For May Vote

East Liverpool has approximately 7,731 voters qualified for the primary elections May 7, the County Election Board said today after closing the registration books Wednesday night at 9.

The final rush saw 184 register at the Election Board's office and four branch offices. The estimated registration total represents a gain of 622 from the 7,109 listed at the beginning of 1968.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, said 405 qualified in the concerted three-day campaign that preceded the deadline. The staff at the office registered 235 persons, while 170 more were enrolled at the four branches.

The branch offices were established at the Thorofare Market, the main Post Office and the Pleasant Heights and North Side Fire Stations. Twenty-six enrolled yesterday at the market, with 18 at the Post Office, 11 at the Pleasant Heights site and 19 on North Side. Another 110 registered at the board's office, making it by far the busiest day of the campaign.

Deputy registrars at the Thorofare Market and the Post Office ran an unofficial "race" during the three-day campaign. They wound up Wednesday night in a tie. Each branch had registered 61 voters during the campaign.

With the deadline past, East Liverpool registration books now are closed until 10 days after the primary. Voters may register again starting May 18.

Convicted Slayer Added To List Of 10 Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Edward Wells, once sentenced to death for murder — a sentence later commuted to life in prison—was added today to the FBI's list of "ten most wanted fugitives."

Wells is being sought in connection with two armed robberies last October — one in which $25,000 worth of coins was stolen from a Middleburg, Ohio, coin collector and the other involving about $40,000 worth of jewelry taken from a Brecksville, Ohio, store.

The FBI said Wells, 51, was convicted of murder in 1938 and sentenced to be executed.

The sentence was later commuted to life in prison and he was paroled from the Ohio State Penitentiary in 1961.

Wells also is sought in Tampa, Fla., where he failed to appear for trial last November on charges involving the theft of $9,100 worth of travelers checks stolen at Cincinnati.

An FBI circular says Wells' associates describe him "as a vicious and sadistic killer."

Man Talks Way Into County Jail; 9 Others Fined

LISBON — A Newell man talked his way from Southwest Court into the County Jail here Tuesday afternoon.

Judge J. L. MacDonald imposed a 10-day sentence for contempt of court on Ronald K. Dunn, 37, of 22 Riverside Dr. after an outburst of vile language marred a hearing on a 3-month-old charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. The defendant had been granted several continuances.

A friend drove Dunn to Lisbon.

Called to the bench, Dunn got off on the wrong foot by smoking. Then the defendant said he wanted a jury trial. The judge noted the defendant's apparent tipsy condition and said he would increase the bond from $500 to $1,000.

Dunn shouted vituperation at the court and immediately was sentenced for contempt. The original charge remains to be heard.

Nine drivers were fined in other traffic cases Tuesday. They were:

Benny J. Wright, Kensington RD 1; Jerry P. Hutchison, Rogers RD 1, and Ronald K. Owens, Salineville, speeding, $15 and costs each; Albert J. Amon, Kensington RD 1, operating a motor vehicle on license plates issued to another vehicle, $15; George A. Hawkins, Kensington RD 1, driving left of center, $10.

Alberta J. Webber, Hanoverton, and Fred E. Walter, Amsterdam, driving an unsafe vehicle, $10 each; David W. Small, Kensington RD 1, failure to transfer registration, $10, and Harry V. Cunningham of 1722 Jennings Ave., East Liverpool, stop sign violation, $5.

Harry Eckenrode, Massillon, charged with speeding, forfeited a $20 appearance bond.

Gold Price Continues Drop On Paris Market

PARIS (AP) — The price of gold continued to drop on the free Paris market today, settling at $38.86 an ounce, its lowest point in a week. Gold was traded at $40.22 an ounce Wednesday.

Market analysts said the falling price was due to uncertainty about South African plans on selling newly mined gold. Many traders were said to be hedging against the possibility of South Africa's shipping new gold to the Continent, where its abundance would keep prices down.

The Connecticut River separates two states — Vermont and New Hampshire — and cuts two others — Connecticut and Massachusetts — roughly in half.

4 Steelworkers Sue To Nullify Dues Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Four dissident steelworkers filed suit in U.S. District Court Wednesday to nullify the union dues increase approved at a convention in Atlantic City last week.

Donald C. Rarick, who is running for the presidency of the Steelworkers of America, and three other union members charged that the voting on a $5 dues increase was rigged.

The suit accused steelworkers president I. W. Abel and other top officers with "exercising arbitrary and despotic control over the special convention, thereby depriving plaintiff and other members of the labor organization of their rights to a basically democratic union."

The suit said Abel ignored the union's weighted vote rule, allowed staff representatives to be seated as delegates, failed to take a roll call vote and made no provision to prevent outsiders from voting.

Man Talks Way Into County Jail; 9 Others Fined

LISBON — A Newell man talked his way from Southwest Court into the County Jail here Tuesday afternoon.

Judge J. L. MacDonald imposed a 10-day sentence for contempt of court on Ronald K. Dunn, 37, of 22 Riverside Dr. after an outburst of vile language marred a hearing on a 3-month-old charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol. The defendant had been granted several continuances.

A friend drove Dunn to Lisbon.

Called to the bench, Dunn got off on the wrong foot by smoking. Then the defendant said he wanted a jury trial. The judge noted the defendant's apparent tipsy condition and said he would increase the bond from $500 to $1,000.

Dunn shouted vituperation at the court and immediately was sentenced for contempt. The original charge remains to be heard.

Nine drivers were fined in other traffic cases Tuesday. They were:

Benny J. Wright, Kensington RD 1; Jerry P. Hutchison, Rogers RD 1, and Ronald K. Owens, Salineville, speeding, $15 and costs each; Albert J. Amon, Kensington RD 1, operating a motor vehicle on license plates issued to another vehicle, $15; George A. Hawkins, Kensington RD 1, driving left of center, $10.

Alberta J. Webber, Hanoverton, and Fred E. Walter, Amsterdam, driving an unsafe vehicle, $10 each; David W. Small, Kensington RD 1, failure to transfer registration, $10, and Harry V. Cunningham of 1722 Jennings Ave., East Liverpool, stop sign violation, $5.

Harry Eckenrode, Massillon, charged with speeding, forfeited a $20 appearance bond.

Gold Price Continues Drop On Paris Market

PARIS (AP) — The price of gold continued to drop on the free Paris market today, settling at $38.86 an ounce, its lowest point in a week. Gold was traded at $40.22 an ounce Wednesday.

Market analysts said the falling price was due to uncertainty about South African plans on selling newly mined gold. Many traders were said to be hedging against the possibility of South Africa's shipping new gold to the Continent, where its abundance would keep prices down.

The Connecticut River separates two states — Vermont and New Hampshire — and cuts two others — Connecticut and Massachusetts — roughly in half.

4 Steelworkers Sue To Nullify Dues Increase

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Four dissident steelworkers filed suit in U.S. District Court Wednesday to nullify the union dues increase approved at a convention in Atlantic City last week.

Donald C. Rarick, who is running for the presidency of the Steelworkers of America, and three other union members charged that the voting on a $5 dues increase was rigged.

The suit accused steelworkers president I. W. Abel and other top officers with "exercising arbitrary and despotic control over the special convention, thereby depriving plaintiff and other members of the labor organization of their rights to a basically democratic union."

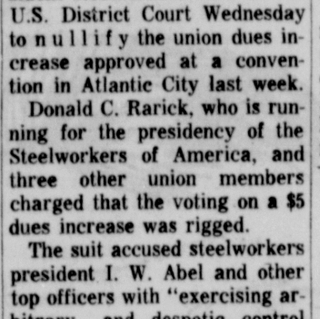

The suit said Abel ignored the union's weighted vote rule, allowed staff representatives to be seated as delegates, failed to take a roll call vote and made no provision to prevent outsiders from voting.

Raimond Fined $100 In Aftermath Of Raid

Frank J. Raimond, 48, of Chester, proprietor of the Lantern Inn on Route 2 in Hancock County, was fined $100 and costs this morning when he pleaded no contest to a charge of selling whisky illegally after hours.

Raimond, who appeared before Squire Thomas Bellanco at Weirton, was arrested March 17 by West Virginia state police for the after-hours violation. Some 91 bottles of whisky were confiscated.

Signup Ends; 7,731 Qualify For May Vote

East Liverpool has approximately 7,731 voters qualified for the primary elections May 7, the County Election Board said today after closing the registration books Wednesday night at 9.

The final rush saw 184 register at the Election Board's office and four branch offices. The estimated registration total represents a gain of 622 from the 7,109 listed at the beginning of 1968.

Miss Rebecca Resnick, director of elections, said 405 qualified in the concerted three-day campaign that preceded the deadline. The staff at the office registered 235 persons, while 170 more were enrolled at the four branches.

The branch offices were established at the Thorofare Market, the main Post Office and the Pleasant Heights and North Side Fire Stations. Twenty-six enrolled yesterday at the market, with 18 at the Post Office, 11 at the Pleasant Heights site and 19 on North Side. Another 110 registered at the board's office, making it by far the busiest day of the campaign.

Deputy registrars at the Thorofare Market and the Post Office ran an unofficial "race" during the three-day campaign. They wound up Wednesday night in a tie. Each branch had registered 61 voters during the campaign.

With the deadline past, East Liverpool registration books now are closed until 10 days after the primary. Voters may register again starting May 18.

Convicted Slayer Added To List Of 10 Most Wanted

WASHINGTON (AP)—George Edward Wells, once sentenced to death for murder — a sentence later commuted to life in prison—was added today to the FBI's list of "ten most wanted fugitives."

Wells is being sought in connection with two armed robberies last October — one in which $25,000 worth of coins was stolen from a Middleburg, Ohio, coin collector and the other involving about $40,000 worth of jewelry taken from a Brecksville, Ohio, store.

The FBI said Wells, 51, was convicted of murder in 1938 and sentenced to be executed.

The sentence was later commuted to life in prison and he was paroled from the Ohio State Penitentiary in 1961.

Wells also is sought in Tampa, Fla., where he failed to appear for trial last November on charges involving the theft of $9,100 worth of travelers checks stolen at Cincinnati.

An FBI circular says Wells' associates describe him "as a vicious and sadistic killer."

Broom Cover Suggested

DEAR HELOISE: With a few stitches on the sewing machine and an old terry towel, I solved my cobweb and tile floor problem.

Heloise

I made a terry cloth cover for my broom and it works nicely in place of the regular dust mop, which involves a long drying time after being washed.

I folded the towel lengthwise, stitched it up the two sides and slid the cover over the broom. I use a safety pin to secure the top, but one could use elastic or a drawstring.

I made four covers for my broom and always have a clean one ready for use.

This cloth-covered broom is excellent for using around the edges of a rug. Turned sideways it will go into narrow places. Also, I can lay it flat and dust under my washer and dryer. Then off comes the cover and a clean one is put on for the next cleaning job.

My neighbor has two dogs and has adopted my "cover-up" idea. She tells me that dog hairs stick as if the terry cloth were magnetized.

MABEL DEAR.

DEAR HELOISE: I've been married two years and though I'm not yet a classified "senior housewife," I would like to contribute to your column.

Being a housewife is one of the most rewarding jobs in the world, but it can become drudgery if you let it. So I think the key to preventing this is imagination.

If everyday you just move and rearrange a piece of furniture, change knick-knacks around, set your dinner table with those placemats, you still haven't used, etc . . .

Not only will you find yourself happier, your husband will think what a clever woman he married!

MRS. V. RANIERI.

DEAR HELOISE: When draining canned cherries or peaches for recipes, save the juice and boil for a short time with some sugar. It makes delicious syrup for waffles and pancakes!

C.D.H.

DEAR HELOISE: While helping my wife clean venetian blinds recently, I gave some thought to how we could prevent the cord that adjusts the tilt of the blind, from creeping up out of reach.

After adjusting the two cords to an even length with the blind slats open, I closed the blind and tied a simple overhand knot on the "closed" cord adjacent to the pulley at the top of the blind.

This knot prevents creeping of the cord and does not interfere with adjustment of the angle of the slats.

FOREST VANPELT.

DEAR HELOISE: Instead of using the center of an open magazine to sort graduated beads, I find the best way is to line them up in the little groove along the top of a ruler. Most school rulers have such a groove.

The beads can be lined up neatly, may be arranged easily and don't get lost in the folds of a magazine.

A FRIEND.

You have a good point there, friend. (I just looked at both plastic and wooden rulers.) That groove is a doozy! Just like you . . .

DEAR HELOISE: If you think I'm not fat now, I just learned that it takes to pennies to weigh me . . .

MISS S.

DEAR HELOISE: Our family has different likes when it comes to soup, so we have do-it-yourself soup.

I make beef or chicken broth with seasoned, cut-up meat. In another kettle I have hot vegetables and still another kettle has noodles. Then each one fixes his own bowl and everyone is happy.

EUNICE.

DEAR HELOISE: To cool a can of cranberry sauce quickly, I usually put it in my freezer. One day I forgot about it.

Later, when I opened the frozen can it was a delicious sherbet and much nicer even than when just chilled.

ANN LANDERS

Father And Son Affection

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a married woman with an infant son. My husband, age 30, has a habit that turns my stomach. Every time he sees his father, which is about once a week, they kiss each other hello.

Don't you feel a handshake or a slap on the back makes more sense? To be kissing one's father at age 30 seems very peculiar to me.

My husband knows I'm writing this letter, in fact he'll read it before it goes into the envelope. We both want your opinion. — NAUSEATED NANCY.

-:-

Dear Nauseated: Kissing parents is strictly a matter of family training. I see nothing peculiar about a grown man greeting his father in this manner. Instead of being nauseated, Nancy, be thankful that your husband and his dad enjoy a warm relationship—it will help your husband have a better relationship with his own son.

Today the generation gap in a good many families makes the Grand Canyon look like a small ditch.

Paper Engagement

Dear Ann: Last week my boy friend put a cigar band around my finger and said, "We're engaged."

It seemed romantic at the time but now I fear that romantic gesture may be a symbol of what our life together will be—never enough money for the real thing. Always substitutes.

Rickey is warm-hearted, attractive, fun to be with, but moody. He's a loner and a drifter. He drinks more than he should and I'm sure this is the main reason he can't hold a job.

Rickey's parents have been divorced for 10 years. His mother collects alimony and has a good-paying job. He always can get money from her. Frequently she'll stay home from work so she can nurse his hangover and fix him a big breakfast.

Last night when I heard Rick ask his mother for $3 to buy gas I got a little sick at my stomach. He says if I'll marry him he won't have to drink, that he'll be able to stay on a job and make a go of things. Yes or No?—JESSICA.

Dear Jess: Don't expect a little ceremony to transform an immature, irresponsible kid into a solid, productive adult. Rickey's mother has kept her sonny boy weak and dependent because she needed to be needed. Methinks he sees in you a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad.

Say no unless you want to carry this emotional cripple on your back for the rest of your days.

Using The Noodle

Dear Ann: May I say a word to the bridegroom who was mad at his wife because she was too dumb to follow the instructions on a box of macaroni?

A building in Chicago now rests on a cornerstone made out of my grandmother's first fruitcake. A workman saw the cake on the back steps, thought it was a brick and in it went. Grandma saw him pick it up but she was too ashamed to speak.

Every good cook has a story or two to tell about an early flop. What's yours, Ann? — R.D. 2.

-:-

Dear R.D.: When I was a bride I didn't know rice swelled. I ended up with enough rice to feed everybody in Hong Kong.

ANN LANDERS

Father And Son Affection

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a married woman with an infant son. My husband, age 30, has a habit that turns my stomach. Every time he sees his father, which is about once a week, they kiss each other hello.

Don't you feel a handshake or a slap on the back makes more sense? To be kissing one's father at age 30 seems very peculiar to me.

My husband knows I'm writing this letter, in fact he'll read it before it goes into the envelope. We both want your opinion. — NAUSEATED NANCY.

-:-

Dear Nauseated: Kissing parents is strictly a matter of family training. I see nothing peculiar about a grown man greeting his father in this manner. Instead of being nauseated, Nancy, be thankful that your husband and his dad enjoy a warm relationship—it will help your husband have a better relationship with his own son.

Today the generation gap in a good many families makes the Grand Canyon look like a small ditch.

Paper Engagement

Dear Ann: Last week my boy friend put a cigar band around my finger and said, "We're engaged."

It seemed romantic at the time but now I fear that romantic gesture may be a symbol of what our life together will be—never enough money for the real thing. Always substitutes.

Rickey is warm-hearted, attractive, fun to be with, but moody. He's a loner and a drifter. He drinks more than he should and I'm sure this is the main reason he can't hold a job.

Rickey's parents have been divorced for 10 years. His mother collects alimony and has a good-paying job. He always can get money from her. Frequently she'll stay home from work so she can nurse his hangover and fix him a big breakfast.

Last night when I heard Rick ask his mother for $3 to buy gas I got a little sick at my stomach. He says if I'll marry him he won't have to drink, that he'll be able to stay on a job and make a go of things. Yes or No?—JESSICA.

Dear Jess: Don't expect a little ceremony to transform an immature, irresponsible kid into a solid, productive adult. Rickey's mother has kept her sonny boy weak and dependent because she needed to be needed. Methinks he sees in you a girl just like the girl who married dear old dad.

Say no unless you want to carry this emotional cripple on your back for the rest of your days.

Using The Noodle

Dear Ann: May I say a word to the bridegroom who was mad at his wife because she was too dumb to follow the instructions on a box of macaroni?

A building in Chicago now rests on a cornerstone made out of my grandmother's first fruitcake. A workman saw the cake on the back steps, thought it was a brick and in it went. Grandma saw him pick it up but she was too ashamed to speak.

Every good cook has a story or two to tell about an early flop. What's yours, Ann? — R.D. 2.

-:-

Dear R.D.: When I was a bride I didn't know rice swelled. I ended up with enough rice to feed everybody in Hong Kong.

Tax Returns Revealed By Underwood

CHARLESTON — Former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood revealed his income tax returns Tuesday and called on his chief opponent for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Arch A. Moore Jr., to do likewise.

Underwood called a news conference to exhibit copies of his federal tax returns, certified by the Internal Revenue Service, for 1957 through 1960, the period he served as governor.

For the most part they reflected his salary as governor—$17,500 a year with few outside earnings.

Underwood said he did not have on hand his returns for the years since he left office when he was employed in an executive capacity by Island Creek Coal Co. and the Monsanto Co.

During the latter period, he said, he held no public or party office so "I couldn't have any conflict of interest."

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson and State Democratic Cairman James M. Sprouse, both seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, earlier disclosed their tax returns as did E. C. "Eddie" Cales, a GOP gubernatorial candidate from Hinton.

The following total yearly income and taxes paid were shown by the returns exhibited by Underwood Wednesday:

—1957, income $16,864.92, tax $2,782.45; 1958 income $17,500 minus $275 invested "in a dry hole in Tyler County," tax $3,002; 1959, income $17,311.88, tax $2,690.72; 1960, income $17,688 salary plus $869.62 from outside sources, tax $2,495.

Continuance Set For Man's Trial

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Friday in the case of a man charged with failure to comply with orders of a deputy state fire marshall and the city Health Board which were served on him March 20.

James Scritchfield of 1114 St. Clair Ave., queried by the court because the charges did not explain the orders he was accused of ignoring, said they related to an accumulation of rubbish in his yard.

"I will try to get it out of there this afternoon," Scritchfield said. "Don't just try — do it!" the court told him. Then the case was continued until tomorrow.

The affidavits against Scritchfield were signed by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne and Ben Weber, a Health Board sanitary officer. The judge told Solicitor J. Michael Kapp he did not believe the affidavits were proper because they did not explain the orders Scritchfield was accused of ignoring. Kapp said he did not have the text of the orders, but added he believes the affidavits are proper. VanDyne and Weber were not present.

2 Junior Fair Additions Due

LISBON — Columbiana County Fair directors added two departments to the Junior Fair division Wednesday night in a meeting at the extension office and approved changes in the Floral Department rules.

At the request of the extension office, beef feeder calf and home beautification projects were added to the Junior division premium list.

Floral Department changes recommended by Donald Elliott of Rogers, department manager, call for three display groups — garden clubs, individual specimens and individual arrangements. Exhibitors will have to renew their displays between 4 and 6 p.m. Thursday, midway through the fair.

Ben Weingart of Leetonia RD, president, appointed Ike Skeels of Lisbon RD 4 and P. R. Corey of Columbiana to investigate costs of repairing the grandstand.

Elliott, treasurer, reported that the colt stakes fund and the state fair funds have been received and were invested in short - term U. S. Treasury certificates — the directors' policy for several years.

Directors rented the grounds to Lisbon Hi-Riders 4-H Club for a horse show Sunday, June 16.

FBI Pushes Probe Into Truck Theft

Discovery of the tractor-trailer truck which thieves stole along with $33,000 worth of television sets and radios from a Beaver County truck terminal over the weekend has led FBI agents to new investigation efforts.

The rig, taken from the Herriott Trucking Co. in Darlington Township, was located in Wilkins Township near Pittsburgh's Monroeville area Wednesday. It was empty but undamaged.

It had been driven away from the Herriott terminal loaded with 108 black and white and color TV sets, 36 radios, 19 stereo sets and six phonographs.

The rig had been driven from Chicago en route to Johnstown, Pa., when the driver stopped at the terminal Friday night. The theft was discovered by a dispatcher Sunday night.

Officials indicated they have leads on some suspects.

It was Greek custom for the bride to be taken from her father's house to her husband's in a chariot the evening before her marriage so the darkness would conceal her blushes, according to the first edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica published in 1768.

Tax Returns Revealed By Underwood

CHARLESTON — Former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood revealed his income tax returns Tuesday and called on his chief opponent for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, Arch A. Moore Jr., to do likewise.

Underwood called a news conference to exhibit copies of his federal tax returns, certified by the Internal Revenue Service, for 1957 through 1960, the period he served as governor.

For the most part they reflected his salary as governor—$17,500 a year with few outside earnings.

Underwood said he did not have on hand his returns for the years since he left office when he was employed in an executive capacity by Island Creek Coal Co. and the Monsanto Co.

During the latter period, he said, he held no public or party office so "I couldn't have any conflict of interest."

Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson and State Democratic Cairman James M. Sprouse, both seeking the Democratic nomination for governor, earlier disclosed their tax returns as did E. C. "Eddie" Cales, a GOP gubernatorial candidate from Hinton.

The following total yearly income and taxes paid were shown by the returns exhibited by Underwood Wednesday:

—1957, income $16,864.92, tax $2,782.45; 1958 income $17,500 minus $275 invested "in a dry hole in Tyler County," tax $3,002; 1959, income $17,311.88, tax $2,690.72; 1960, income $17,688 salary plus $869.62 from outside sources, tax $2,495.

Continuance Set For Man's Trial

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today granted a continuance until Friday in the case of a man charged with failure to comply with orders of a deputy state fire marshall and the city Health Board which were served on him March 20.

James Scritchfield of 1114 St. Clair Ave., queried by the court because the charges did not explain the orders he was accused of ignoring, said they related to an accumulation of rubbish in his yard.

"I will try to get it out of there this afternoon," Scritchfield said. "Don't just try — do it!" the court told him. Then the case was continued until tomorrow.

The affidavits against Scritchfield were signed by Fire Chief Alfred VanDyne and Ben Weber, a Health Board sanitary officer. The judge told Solicitor J. Michael Kapp he did not believe the affidavits were proper because they did not explain the orders Scritchfield was accused of ignoring. Kapp said he did not have the text of the orders, but added he believes the affidavits are proper. VanDyne and Weber were not present.

2 Junior Fair Additions Due

LISBON — Columbiana County Fair directors added two departments to the Junior Fair division Wednesday night in a meeting at the extension office and approved changes in the Floral Department rules.

At the request of the extension office, beef feeder calf and home beautification projects were added to the Junior division premium list.

Floral Department changes recommended by Donald Elliott of Rogers, department manager, call for three display groups — garden clubs, individual specimens and individual arrangements. Exhibitors will have to renew their displays between 4 and 6 p.m. Thursday, midway through the fair.

Ben Weingart of Leetonia RD, president, appointed Ike Skeels of Lisbon RD 4 and P. R. Corey of Columbiana to investigate costs of repairing the grandstand.

Elliott, treasurer, reported that the colt stakes fund and the state fair funds have been received and were invested in short - term U. S. Treasury certificates — the directors' policy for several years.

Directors rented the grounds to Lisbon Hi-Riders 4-H Club for a horse show Sunday, June 16.

FBI Pushes Probe Into Truck Theft

Discovery of the tractor-trailer truck which thieves stole along with $33,000 worth of television sets and radios from a Beaver County truck terminal over the weekend has led FBI agents to new investigation efforts.

The rig, taken from the Herriott Trucking Co. in Darlington Township, was located in Wilkins Township near Pittsburgh's Monroeville area Wednesday. It was empty but undamaged.

It had been driven away from the Herriott terminal loaded with 108 black and white and color TV sets, 36 radios, 19 stereo sets and six phonographs.

The rig had been driven from Chicago en route to Johnstown, Pa., when the driver stopped at the terminal Friday night. The theft was discovered by a dispatcher Sunday night.

Officials indicated they have leads on some suspects.

It was Greek custom for the bride to be taken from her father's house to her husband's in a chariot the evening before her marriage so the darkness would conceal her blushes, according to the first edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica published in 1768.

Pittsburgh Wins ABA Eastern Semi-Final Playoffs

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Al Bailey, speaking at the East Liverpool High School basketball banquet Tuesday night, mentioned that his main job is recruiting.

After the dinner, Bailey said that the two players he is recruiting hardest right now are Denny Wuycik of Ambridge and Wilbert Robinson of Laurel Highlands. Both are all-state, Wuycik for the second year, and Wuycik is an All-American. Of course, many colleges are after both of these players and even if one of them went to Duquesne it would be quite a feather in Bailey's cap. Bailey also said that he would be at the Roundball Classic in Pittsburgh Friday night looking for prospects.

Bailey said that he thought that Red Manning's decision to stay at Duquesne helped him (Bailey). He figures that when Manning does retire he will have a better shot at the head job than he would have now, since he has only been there one season.

I suggested to Bailey that the Dukes would do well to sit 6-9 Gary Major and 6-8 Phil Washington on the bench next season and let the 6-9 Nelson twins play instead. He agreed that this would be a good move, and thought that Jarrett Durham also would be a starter next season, despite the fact that four Duquesne starters from this year return.

THERE IS NO question but that Clint McConnell's family is dedicated to basketball. McConnell is gone many days during the season, and Mrs. McConnell said that already their 22-month-old daughter says "Good-bye, Daddy, ball game," whenever Clint leaves the house.

One of the older McConnell boys is named Chuck, for Clint's good friend Chuck Watt, coach of Steubenville. Despite this honor, at the game between Big Red and Steubenville Central in the sectional tournament, young Chuck, when asked who he was rooting for, indicated Central. "Is that because Mommy went there" asked his father. "No," replied Chuck, "because they'll be easier for us to beat."

I doubt if his father was thinking of that remark during the hectic second overtime against the Crusaders.

Indiana Beaten Three Straight

By The Associated Press

Third-period spurts spelled success in the American Basketball Association playoffs Wednesday night.

The Pittsburgh Pipers opened an 11-point lead with a scoring burst at 9:19 of the quarter and went on to trounce Indiana 133-114, eliminating the Pacers 3-0 in their best-of-5 Eastern Division semifinal series.

Minnesota took a 2-1 lead in the other Eastern semifinal. The Muskies hit 10 quick points early in the third to increase a 62-59 halftime lead to a 70-63 margin and go on to a 116-107 triumph over Kentucky.

New Orleans outscored Denver 12-0 at the start of the third to break a 46-46 halftime tie en route to a 105-93 lead and a 2-0 margin in their Western Division semifinal.

Dallas already has eliminated Houston in the other Western semifinal.

In the National Basketball Association playoffs, Philadelphia edged New York 138-132 in two overtimes, Detroit topped Boston 109-98 and Chicago outlasted Los Angeles 104-96.

Art Heyman collected 18 of his 28 points in the third quarter when Pittsburgh outscored the Pacers 48-27 and broke the game open. Charlie Williams poured in 34 and Connie Hawkins 29 for the Pipers. Fred Lewis led Indiana with 32.

Minnesota led only 62-59 at halftime, but Les Hunter hit two quick baskets and Irv Inninger two more and the Muskies ran up an 84-69 advantage after three periods.

Hunter finished with 38 and Mel Daniels 31 for Minnesota. Kentucky's Louie Dampier scored 32 and Darel Carrier 30.

Jimmy Jones scored 22 points for New Orleans, which made the most of its foul shots.

76ers Nip Knicks In OT

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bulls won a late reprieve, the Philadelphia 76ers saved themselves from an embarrassing predicament and the Detroit Pistons kept right on killing the giant.

The first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs provided surprises all around Wednesday night when Chicago beat Los Angeles 104-98 in the Western Division, and Philadelphia outlasted New York 138-132 in double overtime and Detroit took Boston 109-98 in the East.

Chicago's victory kept the Lakers from taking an impregnable 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 series and put Los Angeles ahead 2-1 instead.

Philadelphia's late heroics kept New York from pulling ahead in their rugged series, which returns to New York Saturday. The 76ers are now ahead two games to one.

And, ah, the Pistons. To have predicted only a week or so ago that Detroit could have taken a 2-1 lead over the Celtics at this stage would have been foolhardy. But Detroit, which beat Boston only twice during the regular season, already has matched that total in the playoffs.

Even more remarkable, the triumph came at Boston where the Pistons rallied from a 52-48 halftime deficit and outscored the Celtics 33-15 in the third period, Dave Bing and Eddie Miles each scored 10 points.

Then Jimmy Walker took over and scored 14 points in the final period to keep the Celtics away. Bing led the Pistons with 27 points while John Havlicek had 23 for Boston.

The Knicks fought back from 10 points behind in the fourth period to take a lead near the end of regulation time, but a basket by Chet Walker sent the game into overtime. Again New York took the lead and seemed safely ahead by three points with little time left.

But Hal Greer stole a pass and scored with 16 seconds left, then stole the in-bounds pass and Matt Guokas was fouled with six seconds left. He made the free throw and the game went into another overtime. Walker put the 76ers ahead for good and scored six points in the final extra period.

Cazzie Russell scored 40 points for the Knicks while Walker had 32 for Philadelphia.

Flynn Robinson's 41 points, 20 coming in the second quarter, led the Bulls to their triumph. It was only the second time this season Chicago has beaten the Lakers. Jerry West had 32 points for Los Angeles.

Penguins Defeat Oakland

By The Associated Press

It looks like nobody wants to win the National Hockey League's West Division title.

Given consecutive chances to move into first place in the expansionist West, Los Angeles lost twice, the latest a 5-3 setback to Minnesota Wednesday night.

Philadelphia, tied in points but with two more games to play than LA, isn't making much headway either. The Flyers lost 3-0 to St. Louis Wednesday.

In other games, Pittsburgh kept its flickering West playoff hopes alive with a 7-4 comeback victory over Oakland and Toronto shut out Montreal 6-0 in the only East game played.

Los Angeles jumped in front twice against Minnesota but the North Stars kept coming back, finally taking the lead on a pair of second-period goals by Wayne Connelly.

The loss left LA with 71 points —the same number as Philadelphia—and only one regular season game remaining.

Glenn Hall's 73rd career shutout stalled the Flyers, who have three more games to play. It was the first victory this season for St. Louis over Philadelphia and moved the Blues closer to a playoff berth.

St. Louis could have locked up fourth place if Oakland had knocked off Pittsburgh and, for awhile, it looked like the Seals would oblige. John Brenneman scored two first-period goals and Oakland took a 3-1 lead.

But veterans Ab McDonald and Leo Boivin each hit twice as the Penguins came back. The victory left Pittsburgh three points back of St. Louis. The Blues have three games to play and Pittsburgh two.

Murray Oliver scored twice and assisted on another goal as Toronto thumped Montreal. It was a meaningless game for both teams since Montreal already has clinched the East Division title and Toronto is destined to finish fifth.

Beanball Battle Erupts Between Red Sox, Yanks

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everybody's been tagging Boston pitching this spring, but the Red Sox won't turn the other cheek. Not by a long shot.

Beanballs flew at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Wednesday as the American League champs bowed to the New York Yankees 4-2 for their 13th setback in 19 exhibition games.

Dick Williams, the Red Sox' pilot, and Coach Eddie Popowski were ejected in an eighth inning rhubarb with umpire Frank Umont after Boston pitcher Lee Stange clipped the Yanks' Roy White in the back with a fast ball.

Jerry Stephenson, the Red Sox' starter, had hit Bob Cox with a pitch in the sixth and the Yankees' Dale Spier had fired a pitch over Joe Foy's head in the top of the eighth. When White was plunked leading off the bottom of the inning, Umont warned Williams, then tossed him out.

The same clubs staged a free-for-all last June at Yankee Stadium after Boston ace Jim Lonborg and New York's Thad Tillotson took turns low-bridging the hitters.

While the Red Sox' troubles continued, St. Louis' world champions buried the Chicago White Sox 8-2 at Sarasota, Fla., for their 12th victory in 18 starts. Lou Brock's second spring homer paced a 17-hit Cardinal attack.

At Orlando, Fla., Harmon Killebrew's 11th inning homer gave the Minnesota Twins a 1-0 victory over Baltimore. Killebrew blasted his fifth exhibition homer off Gene Brabender, the fourth Baltimore pitcher. Jim Merritt, Al Worthington, Ron Perranoski and Jim Roland stopped the Orioles on six hits.

Sam McDowell yielded just one hit in a six-inning stint as the Cleveland Indians trimmed California 7-3 at El Paso, Tex. Philadelphia blanked Los Angeles 4-0 at Clearwater, Fla., behind the six-hit pitching of Chris Short and Gary Wagner.

San Francisco shelled Ken Holtzman for eight runs in the first two innings and held off the Chicago Cubs 10-6 at Scottsdale, Ariz. Atlanta broke through ex-teammate Denny Lemaster for five eighth inning runs and a 5-3 victory over Houston at West Palm Beach, Fla.

Oakland downed Detroit 4-2 at Lakeland, Fla., and Cincinnati edged the New York Mets 5-4 in a night game at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Braves were stunned by the announcement that outfielder Rico Carty, a .305 lifetime hitter, will undergo extensive tests to determine if he has tuberculosis. Carty, 27, has lost weight and complained of feeling run down in recent weeks.

Mike Ferraro, the Yankees' rookie second baseman, and San Francisco catcher Dick Dietz also came up with distressing ailments.

An eye examination disclosed Ferraro is suffering from glaucoma but a Fort Lauderdale doctor said he should be able to continue playing. Deitz was rushed from Scottsdale, Ariz., to San Francisco for tests after being hospitalized with high blood pressure.

The Braves cut nine players, including former bonus baby Dave Nicholson, whose 175 strikeouts in 1963 stand as the major league record. Shortstop Andre Rodgers and catcher Manny Sanguillen were sent down by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rocky Colavito, dealt from Cleveland to Los Angeles Tuesday, said he would report to the Dodgers after first considering retirement.

Colavito Will Report To Dodgers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will get the services of outfielder Rocky Colavto after all.

When Colavito's acquisition from the Chicago White Sox was announced Tuesday, the slugger said he didn't know whether he'd report to the National League club "or call it quits." He said the transaction had upset his plans but he thought he'd be able to readjust.

Wednesday, Dodger General Manager E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi said Rocky had phoned him to say he would report to the club Sunday in Arizona.

Baker's whipped Bic's Bar of Steubenville 92-66 as Jim Lassiter of Freedom poured in 27 points. Tony Reda led the losers with 25 points.

Amos downed the Y-Men of East Liverpool 86-73. The defending champs got 32 points from Garvin, while T. Shuck had 25 for the losers.

Ed Risler and Andy Dash had 20 and 19 points to lead Toronto to its narrow win. Jim Potts had 22 and Jim Quinn 14 for the losers. East Liverpool had a slight lead with two minutes to go, but Risler made some clutch fouls to lift Toronto to the win. Quinn fouled out late in the game, hurting East Liverpool's chances. Toronto led most of the way.

In tonight's action the tourney favorite, Uncle Pete's of Wellsville, makes its debut in the 9:30 game. Uncle Pete's has 6-9 Ron Brown of Akron, 6-8 Ted Gutarski of California State and 6-6 Frank Pilsitz of the same school, 6-4 Dave Wilcoxen of Marietta, Bud Cenevivo, Mac Comparetta and Ray Rolley of Wellsville and Quinn and Potts from East Liverpool. Braves' Rico Carty May Have Tuberculosis

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Atlanta slugger Rico Carty, confined to the Southeast Florida Tuberculosis Hospital near here, starts a series of extensive physical examinations today to determine if he has tuberculosis.

The 27-year-old left fielder entered the facility Wednesday night after physicians here examined him and the Braves announced it was likely he had the disease.

A spokesman for the hospital said the full staff of seven doctors, four surgeons and various consultants will consider Carty's case. He said there was no indication how long the tests might take.

Meanwhile, other Atlanta players and team officials were being tested to determine if they had contracted the disease. However, trainer Harvey Stone said it was a precautionary measure and that Carty's illness may be pneumonia.

"If he's really got it, he's certain to be out for the year," said Paul Richards, vice president of the Braves.

Carty had reported for training about 10 pounds under his playing weight of 200 pounds, recently had complained of "being weak and just not feeling right," and had lost another six pounds at camp.

He played in a weekend exhibition series at Atlanta, but he did not play in Monday and Tuesday's games. In the exhibition season he was batting .316, better than his .305 average four years in the big leagues.

He hit .330 in 1964, .310 in 1965, .326 in 1966, and .255 in 196 when he suffered a shoulder injury.

Houston's Hayes Signs With San Diego Team

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With acquisition of Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets, the National Basketball Association wins an important round in the fight with the new American Basketball Association for talent.

Houston's "Big E" signed a contract Wednesday with the NBA Rockets. Although terms of the "multiple-year" pact weren't announced, it is believed to involve about $440,000 over a four-year period.

The Rockets moved quickly to sign the 6-foot-9½ performer, named College Player-of-the-Year. They won a coin flip Monday with Baltimore for the right to make the NBA's No. 1 draft selection.

The Houston Mavericks have draft rights to Hayes in the ABA. But the 22-year-old star was seated at the Rocket bargaining table while the Mavericks made a $500,000 offer Tuesday.

Hayes said earlier he wanted $300,000 for three years.

The 235-pound Hayes reiterated at a news conference that he chose San Diego because he wants to "play against the best, and that's the NBA. I really like the city and I'm very happy that San Diego drafted me."

Tired Sikes Shoots 67 In Jacksonville Pro-Am

By F. T. MACFEELY

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I'm tired, so tired," Dan Sikes said on the eve of today's Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament.

The hometown hero's actions belied his words. Sikes had just opened the tournament activities by shooting the lowest score in the pro-am preliminary at 67—five strokes below regulation for the toughened 7,200-yard Deerwood Club course.

Sikes, who won last year's Jacksonville Open with a nine-under-par 279, said he played the best golf of his life when he won the Citrus Open at Orlando two weeks ago. He was 14 under par in that tournament, but figures 10 under will be good enough to take this one.

In addition to his second straight victory at his home course, Sikes will be shooting for the Florida Governor's Cup based on the total scores in all four tournaments in the state.

He and England's Tony Jacklin are tied at 837 after play in Doral, Citrus and Pensacola tournaments. Bob Murphy, former National Amateur champion and former University of Florida golfer, stands 841. Ray Floyd is at 842.

Tom Weiskopf would have been in great shape for the trophy if he had not passed up the Pensacola Tournament last week. He was second in both the Doral and Citrus.

Most of the other top golfers on the PGA circuit also are after this one.

Pittsburgh Wins ABA Eastern Semi-Final Playoffs

Sports Whirled

By TURK PIERCE
Review Sports Editor

Al Bailey, speaking at the East Liverpool High School basketball banquet Tuesday night, mentioned that his main job is recruiting.

After the dinner, Bailey said that the two players he is recruiting hardest right now are Denny Wuycik of Ambridge and Wilbert Robinson of Laurel Highlands. Both are all-state, Wuycik for the second year, and Wuycik is an All-American. Of course, many colleges are after both of these players and even if one of them went to Duquesne it would be quite a feather in Bailey's cap. Bailey also said that he would be at the Roundball Classic in Pittsburgh Friday night looking for prospects.

Bailey said that he thought that Red Manning's decision to stay at Duquesne helped him (Bailey). He figures that when Manning does retire he will have a better shot at the head job than he would have now, since he has only been there one season.

I suggested to Bailey that the Dukes would do well to sit 6-9 Gary Major and 6-8 Phil Washington on the bench next season and let the 6-9 Nelson twins play instead. He agreed that this would be a good move, and thought that Jarrett Durham also would be a starter next season, despite the fact that four Duquesne starters from this year return.

THERE IS NO question but that Clint McConnell's family is dedicated to basketball. McConnell is gone many days during the season, and Mrs. McConnell said that already their 22-month-old daughter says "Good-bye, Daddy, ball game," whenever Clint leaves the house.

One of the older McConnell boys is named Chuck, for Clint's good friend Chuck Watt, coach of Steubenville. Despite this honor, at the game between Big Red and Steubenville Central in the sectional tournament, young Chuck, when asked who he was rooting for, indicated Central. "Is that because Mommy went there" asked his father. "No," replied Chuck, "because they'll be easier for us to beat."

I doubt if his father was thinking of that remark during the hectic second overtime against the Crusaders.

Indiana Beaten Three Straight

By The Associated Press

Third-period spurts spelled success in the American Basketball Association playoffs Wednesday night.

The Pittsburgh Pipers opened an 11-point lead with a scoring burst at 9:19 of the quarter and went on to trounce Indiana 133-114, eliminating the Pacers 3-0 in their best-of-5 Eastern Division semifinal series.

Minnesota took a 2-1 lead in the other Eastern semifinal. The Muskies hit 10 quick points early in the third to increase a 62-59 halftime lead to a 70-63 margin and go on to a 116-107 triumph over Kentucky.

New Orleans outscored Denver 12-0 at the start of the third to break a 46-46 halftime tie en route to a 105-93 lead and a 2-0 margin in their Western Division semifinal.

Dallas already has eliminated Houston in the other Western semifinal.

In the National Basketball Association playoffs, Philadelphia edged New York 138-132 in two overtimes, Detroit topped Boston 109-98 and Chicago outlasted Los Angeles 104-98.

Art Heyman collected 18 of his 28 points in the third quarter when Pittsburgh outscored the Pacers 48-27 and broke the game open. Charlie Williams poured in 34 and Connie Hawkins 29 for the Pipers. Fred Lewis led Indiana with 32.

Hunter finished with 38 and Mel Daniels 31 for Minnesota. Kentucky's Louie Dampier scored 32 and Darel Carrier 30.

Jimmy Jones scored 22 points for New Orleans, which made the most of its foul shots.

Sikes, who won last year's Jacksonville Open with a nine-under-par 279, said he played the best golf of his life when he won the Citrus Open at Orlando two weeks ago. He was 14 under par in that tournament, but figures 10 under will be good enough to take this one.

In addition to his second straight victory at his home course, Sikes will be shooting for the Florida Governor's Cup based on the total scores in all four tournaments in the state.

He and England's Tony Jacklin are tied at 837 after play in Doral, Citrus and Pensacola tournaments. Bob Murphy, former National Amateur champion and former University of Florida golfer, stands 841. Ray Floyd is at 842.

Tom Weiskopf would have been in great shape for the trophy if he had not passed up the Pensacola Tournament last week. He was second in both the Doral and Citrus.

Most of the other top golfers on the PGA circuit also are after this one.

76ers Nip Knicks In OT

By The Associated Press

The Chicago Bulls won a late reprieve, the Philadelphia 76ers saved themselves from an embarrassing predicament and the Detroit Pistons kept right on killing the giant.

The first round of the National Basketball Association playoffs provided surprises all around Wednesday night when Chicago beat Los Angeles 104-98 in the Western Division, and Philadelphia outlasted New York 138-132 in double overtime and Detroit took Boston 109-98 in the East.

Chicago's victory kept the Lakers from taking an impregnable 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 series and put Los Angeles ahead 2-1 instead.

Philadelphia's late heroics kept New York from pulling ahead in their rugged series, which returns to New York Saturday. The 76ers are now ahead two games to one.

And, ah, the Pistons. To have predicted only a week or so ago that Detroit could have taken a 2-1 lead over the Celtics at this stage would have been foolhardy. But Detroit, which beat Boston only twice during the regular season, already has matched that total in the playoffs.

Even more remarkable, the triumph came at Boston where the Pistons rallied from a 52-48 halftime deficit and outscored the Celtics 33-15 in the third period, Dave Bing and Eddie Miles each scored 10 points.

Then Jimmy Walker took over and scored 14 points in the final period to keep the Celtics away. Bing led the Pistons with 27 points while John Havlicek had 23 for Boston.

The Knicks fought back from 10 points behind in the fourth period to take a lead near the end of regulation time, but a basket by Chet Walker sent the game into overtime. Again New York took the lead and seemed safely ahead by three points with little time left.

But Hal Greer stole a pass and scored with 16 seconds left, then stole the in-bounds pass and Matt Guokas was fouled with six seconds left. He made the free throw and the game went into another overtime. Walker put the 76ers ahead for good and scored six points in the final extra period.

Cazzie Russell scored 40 points for the Knicks while Walker had 32 for Philadelphia.

Flynn Robinson's 41 points, 20 coming in the second quarter, led the Bulls to their triumph. It was only the second time this season Chicago has beaten the Lakers. Jerry West had 32 points for Los Angeles.

Houston's Hayes Signs With San Diego Team

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With acquisition of Elvin Hayes of the San Diego Rockets, the National Basketball Association wins an important round in the fight with the new American Basketball Association for talent.

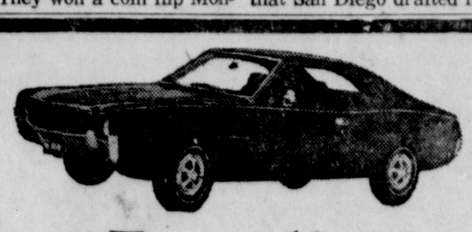

Houston's "Big E" signed a contract Wednesday with the NBA Rockets. Although terms of the "multiple-year" pact weren't announced, it is believed to involve about $440,000 over a four-year period.

The Rockets moved quickly to sign the 6-foot-9½ performer, named College Player-of-the-Year. They won a coin flip Monday with Baltimore for the right to make the NBA's No. 1 draft selection.

The Houston Mavericks have draft rights to Hayes in the ABA. But the 22-year-old star was seated at the Rocket bargaining table while the Mavericks made a $500,000 offer Tuesday.

Hayes said earlier he wanted $300,000 for three years.

The 235-pound Hayes reiterated at a news conference that he chose San Diego because he wants to "play against the best, and that's the NBA. I really like the city and I'm very happy that San Diego drafted me."

Penguins Defeat Oakland

By The Associated Press

It looks like nobody wants to win the National Hockey League's West Division title.

Given consecutive chances to move into first place in the expansionist West, Los Angeles lost twice, the latest a 5-3 setback to Minnesota Wednesday night.

Philadelphia, tied in points but with two more games to play than LA, isn't making much headway either. The Flyers lost 3-0 to St. Louis Wednesday.

In other games, Pittsburgh kept its flickering West playoff hopes alive with a 7-4 comeback victory over Oakland and Toronto shut out Montreal 6-0 in the only East game played.

Los Angeles jumped in front twice against Minnesota but the North Stars kept coming back, finally taking the lead on a pair of second-period goals by Wayne Connelly.

The loss left LA with 71 points —the same number as Philadelphia—and only one regular season game remaining.

Glenn Hall's 73rd career shutout stalled the Flyers, who have three more games to play. It was the first victory this season for St. Louis over Philadelphia and moved the Blues closer to a playoff berth.

St. Louis could have locked up fourth place if Oakland had knocked off Pittsburgh and, for awhile, it looked like the Seals would oblige. John Brenneman scored two first-period goals and Oakland took a 3-1 lead.

But veterans Ab McDonald and Leo Boivin each hit twice as the Penguins came back. The victory left Pittsburgh three points back of St. Louis. The Blues have three games to play and Pittsburgh two.

Murray Oliver scored twice and assisted on another goal as Toronto thumped Montreal. It was a meaningless game for both teams since Montreal already has clinched the East Division title and Toronto is destined to finish fifth.

Colavito Will Report To Dodgers

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will get the services of outfielder Rocky Colavto after all.

When Colavito's acquisition from the Chicago White Sox was announced Tuesday, the slugger said he didn't know whether he'd report to the National League club "or call it quits." He said the transaction had upset his plans but he thought he'd be able to readjust.

Wednesday, Dodger General Manager E. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi said Rocky had phoned him to say he would report to the club Sunday in Arizona.

Yankee Rookie Can Play

Routine Test Reveals Ferrara Has Glaucoma

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — All Mike Ferraro wanted Wednesday from the New York Yankees was the starting job at third base. But he ended up thanking them for something more valuable. . .his eyesight.

A doctor found during a Yankee-ordered eye checkup that the hard-hitting young rookie was suffering from glaucoma, an incurable eye disease.

"It's a good thing they set up the examination," Ferraro said. "I'd have never gone to an eye doctor. I had no reason to."

Yankee spokesman Bob Fishel said this was the first year that the team scheduled spring checkups. Usually the examinations are held later in the year when the roster is smaller and consequently so is the doctor's bill.

Dr. Oscar Sherman of Fort Lauderdale said the 24-year-old Ferraro will be on medication for the rest of his life, but that "he should be able to continue playing."

He said, "The disease is incurable, but controlable. In Mike's case we caught it early. Eventually it could cause blindness."

"He scared the hell out of me," Ferraro said. "I'll have to put drops in my eyes every night for the rest of my life, but if the Yankees hadn't set up that exam. . ."

Dr. Sherman said the disease had not advanced far enough yet to have damaged Ferraro's sight and the rookie's .355 spring batting average shows it. He has appeared in nine games and has six RBI.

Nancy Green Killy Lead Ski Standings

ROSSLAND, B.C. (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy and Nancy Green began looking today for more points at the Red Mountain international ski meet on their way to second straight World Cup Championships.

Killy is far ahead of the competition going into this weekend's international meet here, the second to last one in which World Cup points are counted. Miss Greene, a native of Rossland, has a 26-point lead over Isabelle Mir and Florence Steurer of France.

Both Killy and Miss Greene have said they will retire from competition after this season.

Miss Greene took a spill skiing in warmups Wednesday, but was unhurt, and said, "It's very smooth with fresh snow. It's excellent."

The women's slalom was held today, the men's giant slalom is on Saturday and Sunday and the women's giant slalom is on Sunday.

Yankee spokesman Bob Fishel said this was the first year that the team scheduled spring checkups. Usually the examinations are held later in the year when the roster is smaller and consequently so is the doctor's bill.

Dr. Oscar Sherman of Fort Lauderdale said the 24-year-old Ferraro will be on medication for the rest of his life, but that "he should be able to continue playing."

He said, "The disease is incurable, but controlable. In Mike's case we caught it early. Eventually it could cause blindness."

"He scared the hell out of me," Ferraro said. "I'll have to put drops in my eyes every night for the rest of my life, but if the Yankees hadn't set up that exam. . ."

Dr. Sherman said the disease had not advanced far enough yet to have damaged Ferraro's sight and the rookie's .355 spring batting average shows it. He has appeared in nine games and has six RBI.

Nancy Green Killy Lead Ski Standings

ROSSLAND, B.C. (AP) — Jean-Claude Killy and Nancy Green began looking today for more points at the Red Mountain international ski meet on their way to second straight World Cup Championships.

Killy is far ahead of the competition going into this weekend's international meet here, the second to last one in which World Cup points are counted. Miss Greene, a native of Rossland, has a 26-point lead over Isabelle Mir and Florence Steurer of France.

Both Killy and Miss Greene have said they will retire from competition after this season.

Miss Greene took a spill skiing in warmups Wednesday, but was unhurt, and said, "It's very smooth with fresh snow. It's excellent."

The women's slalom was held today, the men's giant slalom is on Saturday and Sunday and the women's giant slalom is on Sunday.

Boston Red Sox Struggle To Win

By JACK HAND
APNIIATED Press Sports Writ

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have been struggling this spring without Jim Lonborg. Carl Yastrzemski has been having trouble with his timing, as usual.

Tony Conigliaro is striking out too much for comfort. Only George Scott and Rico Petrocelli have been massaging the ball.

Manager Dick Williams keeps telling visitors he isn't worried because his pennant winners are under .500 in the exhibition games. They were so-so last spring, too, and look what happened.

"It doesn't bother me if they downgrade us," said Williams. "Let everybody else worry about us. We'll manage somehow.

"Sure, it's tough to try to replace a man like Lonborg but you have to do your best with what you have. Not until I see Jim on the mound, throwing a ball, will I take interest in him as a pitcher again."

That is Williams' way of saying he doesn't have the faintest idea when to expect help from Lonborg, the 22-game winner of 1967's Impossible Dream. The cast is off the left knee that required surgery after a skiing accident but he is far from ready.

The pitching which ranked eighth in the league last year, even with Lonborg's big season, casts serious doubt on Boston's ability to repeat.

"If I had to name a rotation now, I'd say Jose Santiago, Gary Waslewski, Dick Ellsworth and Ray Culp," said Williams, "but that is subject to change. We probably won't need a fifth starter in early season."

Williams named most of the other men on the staff as candidates for the fifth job. Men who have seen the Sox play all their spring games say Jerry Stephenson, Garry Roggenburk and Darrell Brandon have done the best work. Gary Bell has been bombed, especially in one effort against Chicago.

John Wyatt, the mainstay in the bullpen, has been having problems this spring, but everybody expects him to come around when the bell rings. Al "Sparky" Lyle and Brandon figure to be his relief helpers.

"Barring injury we're pretty well set with the rest of the club," said Williams. "We have a real strong bench and a set line-up.

"I don't see how any changes could be made unless possibly third base or catcher. Fortunately we were able to play a lot of different combinations last year and still won."

Williams is willing to trade Ken Harrelson, who hit a bonanza last year after being released by Kansas City. Harrelson can't win a regular job with his club. If anybody offers a pitcher, catcher—or maybe just anything—Harrelson can be had.

There is no room in the outfield with Yastrzemski in left, Reggie Smith in center and Conigliaro in right. Jose Tartabull and possibly George Springs, drafted from Pittsburgh, are the spares.

Conigliaro, coming back from a serious injury, wears a special batting helmet with an ear flap to protect the cheekbone fractured by a pitched ball last August.

Scott, a superior first baseman, has been overpowering pitchers in the exhibitions. Mike Andrews will be at second, Petrocelli at short and a slimmed-down Joe Foy at third. Dalton Jones is competition for Foy and Jerry Adair for Andrews.

Elston Howard, eager to prove his batting slump of last year was temporary, came to camp in great shape as the established No. 1 catcher. It all depends on his hitting.

The Red Sox picked up Gene Oliver from the Phillies to back up Howard and also fill in as an extra outfielder if needed. Russ Gibson probably will be the third catcher.

"I hope everybody picks us 10th again," said Williams. I know it is hard to win two in a row. In this league you can finish anyplace from first to seventh.

"We're as strong as anybody in a tough league. We might have surprised some people in the first half last season but it wasn't surprise that did it in the second half. As long as we maintain the same drive and desire, we can fool a lot of people again."

Thornberry's Defeated In Overtime

The 6-7-8th grade basketball tournament got under way at East Junior last night, with St. Aloysius, Ashbaugh's Grecery, East End and Stacy-Seevers advancing in the eighth grade division.

St. Aloysius beat St. Ann's 21-12 as Arcuragi had 9 for the winners and Kerchinsky had 5 for the losers. Asbaugh's had to go into overtime to top Thornberry's 29-27. Slappy had 17 for the winners and John Connell 9 for the losers. Stacey - Seevers edged Lockhart's 24-22 as Headley had 10 for the winners. East End topped Glenmoor in another tight battle, 15-12. Douglas had 9 for the winners and Tipton 6 for the losers.

In the seventh grade division Lee Cain Fencing edged Wine's Barber Shop 24-21 as Hanlon had 11 for the winners and Talbau 8 for the losers. St. Ann's whipped Chester Methodist 21-9 as B. Jones led the winners with 8.

In sixth grade games, Lockhart's got by Thornberry's 15-13. Allison had 6 for the winners and Gaston a like number for the losers. Lee Cain trounced Finley Grocery 20-3 , as Celli had 5 for the winners.

Paul Rojas Favorite In Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Paul Rojas is a slight favorite to defeat Enrique Higgins of Colombia tonight in their 15-round fight for the World Boxing Association version of the vacant featherweight championship.

The nontelevised scrap, which shapes up as a sluggers' match between two boxers who have never been knocked off their feet, is billed to fill the gap produced when Mexico's Vicente Saldivar retired.

While the WBA and California sanctioned tonight's bout as a title contest, many boxing bodies offer no such recognition. Howard Winstone of Wales is acclaimed as the 126-pound ruler in some areas.

Higgins, 25, whose boxing has been confined to Colombia and Venezuela, has won 30 bouts, scoring 23 knockouts and losing twice. Rojas, also 25, has won 33, lost only one, to Saldivar here in 1965, and stopped 25 opponents.

Stanford Favored In Swimming

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Defending titlist Stanford was rated the team to beat as the 45th NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships got under way at Dartmouth.

Despite the loss of super star Greg Buckingham, who piled up 45 points last year, Stanford is loaded with talent, including Olympic swimmers Dick Roth and Luis Nicolao and a flock of other standouts.

Outstanding performances were expected during the three-day meet as the nation's top collegians look ahead to the Olympic Games later this year.

Indiana is the choice of many observers to dethrone Stanford. The Hoosiers boast four outstanding athletes who could pick up as many as 60 points in the diving events alone. They also have Olympic team members Kevin Berry and Bob Windle, triple threat star Bill Utley and others in the swimming events.

Sports Quiz

Here is a sports quiz to test the knowledge of area sports fans.

The quiz will appear in The Review every Thursday, along with the answers to the preceeding week's quiz and the names of the people who got the most questions right.

The questions are not meant to be easy, and pertain in many cases to what is sometimes called "sports trivia." Please do not phone the Review with answers or questions about the quiz. Answers may be mailed in or dropped off at the Review before noon on Wednesdays.

The winner, as usual, this week was Earl Diddle of the Ceramic Hotel, who missed only a fraction of one question. He named Mike Lynn as a starter on the 1965 UCLA championship team instead of Dave McIntosh. Other starters were Gail Goodrich, Edgar Lacey, Dave Goss and Keith Erickson. Ken Washington came off the bench to spark the win in the title game. Starters for the 1958 Kentucky championship team, known as the "Fiddlin' Five," were Johnny Cox, Dave Mills, John Crigler, Adrian (Odio) Smith and Vern Hatton.

Rudolph Wanderone is are real name of "Minnesota Fats," the noted pool player. Michael Burke was the 19th century ballplayer who went insane, while his namesake is president of the Yankees. Bernie Parent and Doug Favell share the goaltending duties of the Philadelphia Flyers, while George Konick and Dunc McCallum are the Penguins from Flin-Flon, Manitoba. Cricket uses the terms over, double and hit for six, curling contains the terms house, rock and skip, and lacrosse is the sport with a midfielder.

This week's questions:

1. What school won the 1968 NCAA skiing championship?
2. What school won the 1968 NCAA wrestling championship?
3. What school won the 1968 NCAA hockey championship?
4. What school won the 1968 NCAA indoor track championship?
5. Where was the 1967 NCAA cross-country championship held?
6. What college basketball player holds the record for points scored in the "old" Madison Square Garden?
7. In 1959, when the Dodgers, Braves and Giants were involved in a tight pennant race, a pitcher with the Philadelphia Phillies was approached by gamblers and asked to "throw" a game. The pitcher reported the attempt promptly and was exonerated of any blame. Who was he?
8. What college did Midland's Sim Hill attend before he got to West Texas State?
9. The Chicago White Sox are playing nine "home" games in Milwaukee this season. What major league team did something similar in 1957 and where did they play their away from home "home" games?
10. What major league baseball player played in three cities with one franchise?

Boston Red Sox Struggle To Win

By JACK HAND
APN!IATED Press Sports Writ

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. (AP) — The Boston Red Sox have been struggling this spring without Jim Lonborg. Carl Yastrzemski has been having trouble with his timing, as usual.

Tony Conigliaro is striking out too much for comfort. Only George Scott and Rico Petrocelli have been massaging the ball.

Manager Dick Williams keeps telling visitors he isn't worried because his pennant winners are under .500 in the exhibition games. They were so-so last spring, too, and look what happened.

"It doesn't bother me if they downgrade us," said Williams. "Let everybody else worry about us. We'll manage somehow.

"Sure, it's tough to try to replace a man like Lonborg but you have to do your best with what you have. Not until I see Jim on the mound, throwing a ball, will I take interest in him as a pitcher again."

That is Williams' way of saying he doesn't have the faintest idea when to expect help from Lonborg, the 22-game winner of 1967's Impossible Dream. The cast is off the left knee that required surgery after a skiing accident but he is far from ready.

The pitching which ranked eighth in the league last year, even with Lonborg's big season, casts serious doubt on Boston's ability to repeat.

"If I had to name a rotation now, I'd say Jose Santiago, Gary Waslewski, Dick Ellsworth and Ray Culp," said Williams, "but that is subject to change. We probably won't need a fifth starter in early season."

Williams named most of the other men on the staff as candidates for the fifth job. Men who have seen the Sox play all their spring games say Jerry Stephenson, Garry Roggenburk and Darrell Brandon have done the best work. Gary Bell has been bombed, especially in one effort against Chicago.

John Wyatt, the mainstay in the bullpen, has been having problems this spring, but everybody expects him to come around when the bell rings. Al "Sparky" Lyle and Brandon figure to be his relief helpers.

"Barring injury we're pretty well set with the rest of the club," said Williams. "We have a real strong bench and a set line-up.

"I don't see how any changes could be made unless possibly third base or catcher. Fortunately we were able to play a lot of different combinations last year and still won."

Williams is willing to trade Ken Harrelson, who hit a bonanza last year after being released by Kansas City. Harrelson can't win a regular job with his club. If anybody offers a pitcher, catcher—or maybe just anything—Harrelson can be had.

There is no room in the outfield with Yastrzemski in left, Reggie Smith in center and Conigliaro in right. Jose Tartabull and possibly George Springs, drafted from Pittsburgh, are the spares.

Conigliaro, coming back from a serious injury, wears a special batting helmet with an ear flap to protect the cheekbone fractured by a pitched ball last August.

Scott, a superior first baseman, has been overpowering pitchers in the exhibitions. Mike Andrews will be at second, Petrocelli at short and a slimmed-down Joe Foy at third. Dalton Jones is competition for Foy and Jerry Adair for Andrews.

Elston Howard, eager to prove his batting slump of last year was temporary, came to camp in great shape as the established No. 1 catcher. It all depends on his hitting.

The Red Sox picked up Gene Oliver from the Phillies to back up Howard and also fill in as an extra outfielder if needed. Russ Gibson probably will be the third catcher.

"I hope everybody picks us 10th again," said Williams. I know it is hard to win two in a row. In this league you can finish anyplace from first to seventh.

"We're as strong as anybody in a tough league. We might have surprised some people in the first half last season but it wasn't surprise that did it in the second half. As long as we maintain the same drive and desire, we can fool a lot of people again."

Thornberry's Defeated In Overtime

The 6-7-8th grade basketball tournament got under way at East Junior last night, with St. Aloysius, Ashbaugh's Grocery, East End and Stacy-Seevers advancing in the eighth grade division.

St. Aloysius beat St. Ann's 21-12 as Arcuragi had 9 for the winners and Kerchinsky had 5 for the losers. Asbaugh's had to go into overtime to top Thornberry's 29-27. Slappy had 17 for the winners and John Connell 9 for the losers. Stacey - Seevers edged Lockhart's 24-22 as Headley had 10 for the winners. East End topped Glenmoor in another tight battle, 15-12. Douglas had 9 for the winners and Tipton 6 for the losers.

In the seventh grade division Lee Cain Fencing edged Wine's Barber Shop 24-21 as Hanlon had 11 for the winners and Talbau 8 for the losers. St. Ann's whipped Chester Methodist 21-9 as B. Jones led the winners with 8.

In sixth grade games, Lockhart's got by Thornberry's 15-13. Allison had 6 for the winners and Gaston a like number for the losers. Lee Cain trounced Finley Grocery 20-3 , as Celli had 5 for the winners.

The questions are not meant to be easy, and pertain in many cases to what is sometimes called "sports trivia." Please do not phone the Review with answers or questions about the quiz. Answers may be mailed in or dropped off at the Review before noon on Wednesdays.

The winner, as usual, this week was Earl Diddle of the Ceramic Hotel, who missed only a fraction of one question. He named Mike Lynn as a starter on the 1965 UCLA championship team instead of Dave McIntosh. Other starters were Gail Goodrich, Edgar Lacey, Dave Goss and Keith Erickson. Ken Washington came off the bench to spark the win in the title game. Starters for the 1958 Kentucky championship team, known as the "Fiddlin' Five," were Johnny Cox, Dave Mills, John Crigler, Adrian (Odio) Smith and Vern Hatton.

Rudolph Wanderone is are real name of "Minnesota Fats," the noted pool player. Michael Burke was the 19th century ballplayer who went insane, while his namesake is president of the Yankees. Bernie Parent and Doug Favell share the goaltending duties of the Philadelphia Flyers, while George Konick and Dunc McCallum are the Penguins from Flin-Flon, Manitoba. Cricket uses the terms over, double and hit for six, curling contains the terms house, rock and skip, and lacrosse is the sport with a midfielder.

This week's questions:

1. What school won the 1968 NCAA skiing championship?
2. What school won the 1968 NCAA wrestling championship?
3. What school won the 1968 NCAA hockey championship?
4. What school won the 1968 NCAA indoor track championship?
5. Where was the 1967 NCAA cross-country championship held?
6. What college basketball player holds the record for points scored in the "old" Madison Square Garden?
7. In 1959, when the Dodgers, Braves and Giants were involved in a tight pennant race, a pitcher with the Philadelphia Phillies was approached by gamblers and asked to "throw" a game. The pitcher reported the attempt promptly and was exonerated of any blame. Who was he?
8. What college did Midland's Sim Hill attend before he got to West Texas State?
9. The Chicago White Sox are playing nine "home" games in Milwaukee this season. What major league team did something similar in 1957 and where did they play their away from home "home" games?
10. What major league baseball player played in three cities with one franchise?

Paul Rojas Favorite In Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Paul Rojas is a slight favorite to defeat Enrique Higgins of Colombia tonight in their 15-round fight for the World Boxing Association version of the vacant featherweight championship.

The nontelevised scrap, which shapes up as a sluggers' match between two boxers who have never been knocked off their feet, is billed to fill the gap produced when Mexico's Vicente Saldivar retired.

While the WBA and California sanctioned tonight's bout as a title contest, many boxing bodies offer no such recognition. Howard Winstone of Wales is acclaimed as the 126-pound ruler in some areas.

Higgins, 25, whose boxing has been confined to Colombia and Venezuela, has won 30 bouts, scoring 23 knockouts and losing twice. Rojas, also 25, has won 33, lost only one, to Saldivar here in 1965, and stopped 25 opponents.

Stanford Favored In Swimming

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Defending titlist Stanford was rated the team to beat as the 45th NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships got under way at Dartmouth.

Despite the loss of super star Greg Buckingham, who piled up 45 points last year, Stanford is loaded with talent, including Olympic swimmers Dick Roth and Luis Nicolao and a flock of other standouts.

Outstanding performances were expected during the three-day meet as the nation's top collegians look ahead to the Olympic Games later this year.

Indiana is the choice of many observers to dethrone Stanford. The Hoosiers boast four outstanding athletes who could pick up as many as 60 points in the diving events alone. They also have Olympic team members Kevin Berry and Bob Windle, triple threat star Bill Utley and others in the swimming events.

The DOCTOR Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Although most tumors are breast cancers are painless, at least in the early stages, many is benign? The presence benign breast also painless.

Q—Is it true that a lump in th breast that is not sore is malignant and one that is sore or absence of pain is not a reliable indication of malignancy.

Q — After my last baby was born, a lump appeared in my breast. It is painful and goes down somewhat during my periods. My doctor says he should watch it because it might become cancerous. Wouldn't it be better to have it removed now and not take a chance

A — I would not advise removing a benign lump since such tumors rarely become malignant. You and your doctor should both watch it for signs of change in size or hardness.

Q — Does coca butter have any beneficial effect in developing the bust

A — As a bust developer it is a bust whether taken internally or applied externally.

Q—I am 23 and married but not pregnant. When I gently squeeze my right breast a milky liquid exudes from the nipple. There is no soreness. What causes it: Is any treatment necessary?

A—In some women with no history of childbirth, this secretion dries up spontaneously in two or three months. If it doesn't, you may have a pituitary tumor, in which case the best treatment is deep irradiation of this small gland in your head.

Q—What would cause a man's breasts to become very sore What can be done for them?

A — This soreness is common in boys during puberty. It may be seen later in life due to infection, external irritation or exposure to cold. It usually clears up spontaneously but, if severe, it can be relieved with hot applications.

Q — I am a woman, 46. Is there any other reason than cancer for the nipples to be sore?

A — Although cancer of the nipples may cause a slight itching or burning sensation it does not cause soreness. The usual cause is injury or infection.

Q — The left breast of a woman, 60, is larger than the right. What causes this? Is there any danger of cancer?

A—There is a slight variation in the size of the two breasts in all women. In some it is more noticeable than in others. If, however, one breast suddenly increases in size some form of tumor must be suspected. A small specimen for microscopic examination should be removed.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

4 Youths Nabbed In Midland Entry

Four Midland youths have been apprehended by Midland police in connection with a burglary early Saturday at Henry's restaurant of Midland Ave., Midland.

The owner reported $20 in cash along with three silver dollars were taken. Three of the youths were taken to Allencrest Juvenile Home, and later released to the custody of their parents.

They are due hearings later. Sgt. George Tepovich conducted the investigation.

Police are still searching for a person who stole about $240 from Krakar's Restaurant of Midland Ave. last week.

Officers said the money was removed from two pinball machines by thieves who pried them open with a crow bar, taking over $200 from one and $40 from another.

Entry was apparently made through a back door which had been left unlocked, officers said. Sgt. David Jakes and Patrolman Charles Sallis are investigating.

Sentencing was deferred pending a motion for a new trial.

The trial began Monday and closing arguments were made Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard charged the jury yesterday morning.

In connection with the observance of Soil Stewardship Week May 19-26, the supervisors offer organizations and churches free printed material — church bulletins, inserts and a 12 - page booklet, "A Time for Initiative." Requests should be made to the SCS office.

Burglar Sleeps, Eats In 'Goldilocks' Entry

In an incident reminiscent of Goldilocks' fairy tale experiences with the three bears, an intruder who entered an East End home in the owner's absence Tuesday night or early Wednesday took a nap in the bed and then consumed some food before departing.

Bonnie Stump of 475 Mulberry St. told police today the intruder gained entry by reaching through an opening in the front door where a pane of glass was missing, then manipulating the lock.

She said she found signs that the intruder slept in her bed and ate some food. Drawers were ransacked and some photographs and two address books were taken, she said.

Cuyahoga Voter Total Pushed To 717,636

CLEVELAND (AP)—New voters—Many of them young persons registering for the first time — streamed into the board of elections Wednesday, pushing the Cuyahoga County total to 717,636 by the 9 p.m. deadline.

Election officials said 8,168 new voters signed up Wednesday, plus 1,681 persons who transferred voting addresses to remain eligible.

In the last presidential election year Cuyahoga County had 691,505 qualified voters registered.

Specific Plan For Protestant Unity Pressed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Stepping up their drive for unification, leaders of 10 Protestant denominations aimed today to have a specific plan of union ready in two years—and sooner if possible.

"This puts us in high gear," said the Rev. Dr. David G. Colwell of Seattle, chairman of the consultation on church union.

The action moved the project out of the exploratory phase into the concrete process of carrying it out—what one churchman called "the nuts and bolts stage."

Brushing aside earlier expectations that the step would be deferred for further preliminary studies, delegates voted Wednesday night to launch immediately the blueprinting of a united church structure, and fixed the time limit for doing it.

Churches involved include the Methodist, Episcopal, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian, Presbyterian in the USA, Christian (Disciples), Evangelical United Brethren, African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion and Christian Methodist Episcopal.

Hearing Opened On Request For Crossing Lights

LISBON — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio opened a hearing this morning at the Courthouse on Fairfield Township trustees' application for a flasher light at the Penn Central railroad crossing on Township Road 790 (Beeson Mill Rd.)

The road is about one mile east of Leetonia, and runs north and south between Route 344 and Route 14 Alternate.

Examiner John Vandervoort presided as the hearing began about 10:30 a. m. in the Courtroom 1 jury room. More than 30 were present.

Don Brinkworth appeared as counsel for the railroad. Duane Yeagley of Salem, assistant prosecuting attorney, represented the trustees.

Fifteen township residents stood when the examiner asked how many would speak on behalf of the application.

Also present to testify were A. M. Allmon of Salineville and Robert J. Feddern Jr. of Galloway, both railroad inspectors for the PUCO. They were accompanied by their chief, Charles R. Geer of Delaware.

Hearing Rescheduled For Three Students

WEIRTON—A hearing scheduled in Squire Thomas Bellanco's court for three Bethany College students, who allegedly broke into the Sun Valley Grocery Store, has been postponed until April 11.

David Spaulding, 20, of 1920 Orchard St., Steubenville; Rodney Behler, 19, of Perry Hall, Md., and Samuel Miles, 19, of St. Clairsville, were arrested March 25 by West Virginia state police in connection with a breaking and entering at the store. They posted $1,000 bond each.

The three also were arrested by Weirton police for the alleged breaking and entering of the Gateway Service Station on Route 2 in which $30 was taken.

Youngstown Resident Hurt In Area Mishap

Lester W. Devers, 34, of Youngstown was injured when his van truck was involved in a mishap with a 1964 sedan operated by John Albert Tolson, 67, of Salineville RD 3.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the accident occurred on Route 164 near Gavers Wedensday at 5 p. m. but no other details are yet available.

Devers made his own arrangements for medical treatment, officers said.

The DOCTOR Says

By DR. W. G. BRANDSTADT

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Although most tumors are breast cancers are painless, at least in the early stages, many is benign? The presence benign breast also painless.

Q—Is it true that a lump in th breast that is not sore is malignant and one that is sore or absence of pain is not a reliable indication of malignancy.

Q — After my last baby was born, a lump appeared in my breast. It is painful and goes down somewhat during my periods. My doctor says he should watch it because it might become cancerous. Wouldn't it be better to have it removed now and not take a chance

A — I would not advise removing a benign lump since such tumors rarely become malignant. You and your doctor should both watch it for signs of change in size or hardness.

Q — Does coca butter have any beneficial effect in developing the bust

A — As a bust developer it is a bust whether taken internally or applied externally.

Q—I am 23 and married but not pregnant. When I gently squeeze my right breast a milky liquid exudes from the nipple. There is no soreness. What causes it: Is any treatment necessary?

A—In some women with no history of childbirth, this secretion dries up spontaneously in two or three months. If it doesn't, you may have a pituitary tumor, in which case the best treatment is deep irradiation of this small gland in your head.

Q—What would cause a man's breasts to become very sore What can be done for them?

A — This soreness is common in boys during puberty. It may be seen later in life due to infection, external irritation or exposure to cold. It usually clears up spontaneously but, if severe, it can be relieved with hot applications.

Q — I am a woman, 46. Is there any other reason than cancer for the nipples to be sore?

A — Although cancer of the nipples may cause a slight itching or burning sensation it does not cause soreness. The usual cause is injury or infection.

Q — The left breast of a woman, 60, is larger than the right. What causes this? Is there any danger of cancer?

A—There is a slight variation in the size of the two breasts in all women. In some it is more noticeable than in others. If, however, one breast suddenly increases in size some form of tumor must be suspected. A small specimen for microscopic examination should be removed.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Rogers News

ROGERS — Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Cowan and daughter Julie and Mrs. Charles Click of East Liverpool have returned home following a visit with their son and brother, E-2 Sidney Cowan Jr. at Ft. Knox, Ky. He has been assigned to Camp Pickett, Va.

4 Youths Nabbed In Midland Entry

Four Midland youths have been apprehended by Midland police in connection with a burglary early Saturday at Henry's restaurant of Midland Ave., Midland.

The owner reported $20 in cash along with three silver dollars were taken. Three of the youths were taken to Allencrest Juvenile Home, and later released to the custody of their parents.

They are due hearings later. Sgt. George Tepovich conducted the investigation.

Police are still searching for a person who stole about $240 from Krakar's Restaurant of Midland Ave. last week.

Officers said the money was removed from two pinball machines by thieves who pried them open with a crow bar, taking over $200 from one and $40 from another.

Entry was apparently made through a back door which had been left unlocked, officers said. Sgt. David Jakes and Patrolman Charles Sallis are investigating.

Jury Returns Verdict Of Guilty In Girl Case

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury Wednesday convicted Albert G. Crissman of Wellsville on a charge of incest and statutory rape of a girl 14.

Sentencing was deferred pending a motion for a new trial.

The trial began Monday and closing arguments were made Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Raymond S. Buzzard charged the jury yesterday morning.

Ohio Junior College Given Accreditation

CHICAGO (AP)—The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools granted accreditation Wednesday to a junior college in Ohio.

The newly accredited school is Cuyahoga Community College, metropolitan and western campuses, at Cleveland.

Ohio secondary schools accredited were Marion Elgin and Peninsula Woodridge.

6 More Enrolled In Conservation By County Group

LISBON — Supervisors of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District enrolled six cooperators at the monthly meeting Tuesday night in the Gallo Building.

Successful applicants for conservation assistance follow with address, acreage and location:

Eells Bros. Farm, Lisbon RD 3, 412 acres, Elkrun Township; John Holowach, Youngstown, 590 acres, Elkrun; James D. Primm Jr., Lisbon, 104 acres, Center Township; Clarence C. Bailey, Homeworth RD 1, 78 acres, Knox Township; Hugh McCracken, Beloit RD 2, 45 acres, Knox, and Lee Seibert, Minerva RD 2, 20 acres, West Township.

Supervisors remind county high school students of the board's science awards elimination April 23 at 7:30 p. m. in the SCS office. The winner will receive a trip to Washington, D. C., through cooperation of the Federal Land Bank Association of Minerva.

In connection with the observance of Soil Stewardship Week May 19-26, the supervisors offer organizations and churches free printed material — church bulletins, inserts and a 12 - page booklet, "A Time for Initiative." Requests should be made to the SCS office.

Burglar Sleeps, Eats In 'Goldilocks' Entry

In an incident reminiscent of Goldilocks' fairy tale experiences with the three bears, an intruder who entered an East End home in the owner's absence Tuesday night or early Wednesday took a nap in the bed and then consumed some food before departing.

Bonnie Stump of 475 Mulberry St. told police today the intruder gained entry by reaching through an opening in the front door where a pane of glass was missing, then manipulating the lock.

She said she found signs that the intruder slept in her bed and ate some food. Drawers were ransacked and some photographs and two address books were taken, she said.

Cuyahoga Voter Total Pushed To 717,636

CLEVELAND (AP)—New voters—Many of them young persons registering for the first time — streamed into the board of elections Wednesday, pushing the Cuyahoga County total to 717,636 by the 9 p.m. deadline.

Election officials said 8,168 new voters signed up Wednesday, plus 1,681 persons who transferred voting addresses to remain eligible.

In the last presidential election year Cuyahoga County had 691,505 qualified voters registered.

Specific Plan For Protestant Unity Pressed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Stepping up their drive for unification, leaders of 10 Protestant denominations aimed today to have a specific plan of union ready in two years—and sooner if possible.

"This puts us in high gear," said the Rev. Dr. David G. Colwell of Seattle, chairman of the consultation on church union.

The action moved the project out of the exploratory phase into the concrete process of carrying it out—what one churchman called "the nuts and bolts stage."

Brushing aside earlier expectations that the step would be deferred for further preliminary studies, delegates voted Wednesday night to launch immediately the blueprinting of a united church structure, and fixed the time limit for doing it.

Churches involved include the Methodist, Episcopal, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian, Presbyterian in the USA, Christian (Disciples), Evangelical United Brethren, African Methodist Episcopal, African Methodist Episcopal Zion and Christian Methodist Episcopal.

Hearing Opened On Request For Crossing Lights

LISBON — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio opened a hearing this morning at the Courthouse on Fairfield Township trustees' application for a flasher light at the Penn Central railroad crossing on Township Road 790 (Beeson Mill Rd.)

The road is about one mile east of Leetonia, and runs north and south between Route 344 and Route 14 Alternate.

Examiner John Vandervoort presided as the hearing began about 10:30 a. m. in the Courtroom 1 jury room. More than 30 were present.

Don Brinkworth appeared as counsel for the railroad. Duane Yeagley of Salem, assistant prosecuting attorney, represented the trustees.

Fifteen township residents stood when the examiner asked how many would speak on behalf of the application.

Also present to testify were A. M. Allmon of Salineville and Robert J. Feddern Jr. of Galloway, both railroad inspectors for the PUCO. They were accompanied by their chief, Charles R. Geer of Delaware.

Hearing Rescheduled For Three Students

WEIRTON—A hearing scheduled in Squire Thomas Bellanco's court for three Bethany College students, who allegedly broke into the Sun Valley Grocery Store, has been postponed until April 11.

David Spaulding, 20, of 1920 Orchard St., Steubenville; Rodney Behler, 19, of Perry Hall, Md., and Samuel Miles, 19, of St. Clairsville, were arrested March 25 by West Virginia state police in connection with a breaking and entering at the store. They posted $1,000 bond each.

The three also were arrested by Weirton police for the alleged breaking and entering of the Gateway Service Station on Route 2 in which $30 was taken.

Youngstown Resident Hurt In Area Mishap

Lester W. Devers, 34, of Youngstown was injured when his van truck was involved in a mishap with a 1964 sedan operated by John Albert Tolson, 67, of Salineville RD 3.

Officers of the Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said the accident occurred on Route 164 near Gavers Wedensday at 5 p. m. but no other details are yet available.

Devers made his own arrangements for medical treatment, officers said.

Junior Editors Quiz on DOLL HOUSES

QUESTION: Did people always make doll houses?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Dolls have delighted children since Egyptian times, but we know more about ancient dolls than ancient doll houses. This is probably because it was easier for a child to make a doll than a doll house. Early American children often made their own corn husk or rag dolls. But the elaborate doll kitchen at upper left would have been impossible for children to make. About 300 years ago, there was a demand for elaborate doll houses made by expert workmen. These were often built like cupboards with little doors; you opened a door and looked into one room. Children had little chance to enjoy such doll houses. They have far more fun with the doll houses they can make today. One can stand two orange boxes from a super-market on end and easily fix a fine house. Your brother may help you to paint it and you can put paper on the walls and perhaps make curtains and windows. Nowadays, one can buy all kinds of tiny plastic furnishings. You can also invent many of your own. Bottle caps, for instance, make handsome little dishes. Use your imagination to find other things which can be turned into furniture.
